8.22.600 Tenant Protection Ordinance

This ordinance shall be known as the “Tenant Protection Ordinance” (“TPO”).

8.22.610 Findings and Purpose

- A. There is a very significant demand for rental housing in Oakland leading to rising rents, caused in part by the spillover of increasingly expensive housing costs in San Francisco.
- B. Rents in Oakland increased 12% in 2012 and 15% in 2013 (Source: East Bay Express, February 12-18, 2014, “The Rise of the New Land Lords,” sourcing Oakland Department of Housing and Community Development). As noted by a February 8, 2014 Oakland Tribune article (“High prices sending Bay Area renters and homebuyers to outlying communities”), “Squeezed by astronomical home prices and rents that are almost as unaffordable, a growing number of Bay Area residents are pulling up stakes and trading long commutes for cheaper housing.”
- C. According to Oakland Department of Housing and Community Development citing to Zillow Real Estate Research, the estimated rent for all homes in Oakland for June 2014 ($2,124) is nearly 11% higher than that for the same month last year ($1,918), and rents have risen every month except for one since January 2013 (18 months total). If current patterns persist, the estimated rent for all homes in June 2015 will be $2,386. By comparison, the estimated median rent for all Oakland homes for June 2012 was $1,818, a 31% increase in only 36 months.
- D. On September 12, 2014, the San Francisco Examiner reported that “San Francisco and Oakland have the distinction of having some of the highest rental rate increases in the nation for the month of August,” with Oakland’s rents increasing 14.4% since last year, according to data collected by Trulia.
- E. The rising market demand for rental housing in Oakland creates an incentive for some landlords to engage in harassing behavior or fail to make repairs to pressure existing tenants in rent controlled units to move so that rents can be raised. Existing remedies, such as petitioning the Rent Adjustment Program to restore a rental rate or order repairs, or employing an attorney at great cost to file a lawsuit to enforce state law of lease provisions, are insufficient deterrents to engaging in the illegal conduct in the first place.
- F. The imbalance between supply and demand creates an imbalance of bargaining power between landlords and tenants, which has resulted in many tenants, especially those not in rent controlled units, being unwilling or unable to assert their legal rights, which is detrimental to the health, safety and general welfare of Oakland because the stability, security and quality of housing opportunities are reduced.
- G. The Rent Adjustment Program office of the City of Oakland has conservatively estimated receiving 100 to 200 complaints each month from tenants claiming landlord harassment, many of which are completely outside the jurisdiction of the Rent Adjustment Program.

- H. Numerous press articles have reported on the rise of tenant harassment throughout the Bay Area.
- I. Data from organizations providing services to low-income renters in Oakland, including East Bay Community Law Center and Centro Legal de la Raza, indicate that some of their clients live in housing with habitability problems and experience landlord harassment.
- J. Of the approximately 480 Oakland tenants who received legal services at Centro Legal de la Raza during fiscal year 2014 (July 1, 2013 through June 30, 2014), approximately 40% faced harassment by their landlords. The forms of harassment varied, but included one or more of the following in each case:
- Interrupting, terminating, failing to provide or threatening to interrupt, terminate or fail to provide housing services required by contract or by State, County or municipal housing, health or safety laws;
 - Failing to perform required repairs and/or maintenance or threatening to fail to do so;
 - Failing to exercise due diligence in completing repairs and maintenance once undertaken or failing to follow appropriate industry repair, containment or remediation protocols designed to minimize exposure to noise, dust, lead paint, mold, asbestos, or other building materials with potentially harmful health impacts;
 - Abusing the owner's right of access into a rental housing unit as that right is provided by law;
 - Unlawfully removing from the rental unit personal property, furnishings, or any other items without the prior written consent of the tenant;
 - Influencing, or attempting to influence, a tenant to vacate a rental unit through fraud, intimidation or coercion;
 - Attempting to coerce a tenant to vacate with offer(s) of payments to vacate which are accompanied with threats or intimidation;
 - Threatening the tenant, by word or gesture, with physical harm;
 - Substantially and directly interfering with a Tenant's right to quiet use and enjoyment of a rental housing unit as that right is defined by California law;
 - Fraudulently refusing to accept or acknowledge receipt of a Tenant's lawful rent payment.
- K. A majority of Oakland residents are renters. The rental housing units in the City of Oakland include many subject to rent stabilization and some that are not. The cities of San Francisco, Santa Monica, West Hollywood, and East Palo Alto have each passed ordinances prohibiting various forms of harassment by landlords and their agents against tenants.

- L. The City Council of Oakland recognizes that displacement of tenants is a major concern and is interested in putting forth policies that help to maintain the ability of people in all income categories to live in our city. The increased housing pressures for residents across a range of lower and middle income levels warrants improved rent stabilization and tenant protection policies. The City Council finds that reasonable regulation of aspects of the landlord-tenant relationship is necessary in order to foster constructive communication, maintain an adequate supply of a variety of rental housing options, and protect health, safety, and the general welfare of the public.
- M. The purpose of this policy is to deter harassing behavior by landlords, to encourage landlords to follow the law and uphold their responsibility to provide habitable rental properties, and to give tenants legal recourse in instances where they are subjected to harassing behavior by landlords.

B. Retaliation Prohibited. Retaliation against a Tenant because of the Tenant's exercise of rights under the TPO is prohibited. Retaliation claims may only be brought in court and may not be addressed administratively. A court may consider the protections afforded by the TPO in evaluating a claim of retaliation.

A. Violations of the TPO. Violations of 8.22.640 may be enforced by civil remedies as set forth in this section or as otherwise specifically set out in this O.M.C Article.

B. Notice requirement for Tenants. Before a Tenant may file an a civil suit alleging a violation of 8.22.640.A.1., 2., 3., 10., 11., 12, or 13., the affected Tenant must first notify the Owner or his or her designated agent regarding the problem. If the allegation is a violation of 8.22.640.A.1., 2., 3., 11., or 12, the Tenant must allow 15 days for the Owner to correct the problem, unless the Owner notifies the Tenant that the repairs will take more than 15 days and provides for a reasonable time period for completion. If the repair takes more than 15 days, the Tenant may file the civil suit if the Owner does not take reasonable steps to commence addressing the problem or the Owner does not follow through to complete the repairs with reasonable diligence.

2. Enforcement by City Attorney. The City Attorney may enforce the TPO through civil action for injunctive relief or damages, or both, for when the party against whom enforcement is sought has a pattern and practice of violating the TPO. The City Attorney may also request that an administrative citation or civil penalty be issued by the City. The City Attorney has the sole discretion to determine the cases appropriate for enforcement by the City Attorney's Office.

B. Treble and Exemplary Damages.

1. Any person who violates, aids, or incites another person to violate 8.22.640.A or E. is liable in a court action for each and every such offense for money damages of not less than three times actual damages suffered by an aggrieved Tenant (including damages for mental or emotional distress), or for minimum damages in the sum of one thousand dollars, whichever is greater, and whatever other relief the court deems appropriate. In the case of an award of damages for mental or emotional distress, said award shall only be trebled if the trier of fact finds that the Owner acted in knowing violation of or in reckless disregard of the TPO.

2. A court may award punitive damages in a proper case as set out in Civil Code section 3294 and pursuant to the standards set forth in that Code Section or any successor thereto, but may not award both punitive damages and treble damages.

Court costs may be awarded to a prevailing party pursuant to state law.

2. Action by Tenant. In any civil action brought pursuant to the TPO, the prevailing Tenant is entitled to recover the Tenant's reasonable attorney's fees. A defendant Owner may recover reasonable attorney's fees if the complaint brought by the Tenant was devoid of merit and brought in bad faith. Court costs may be awarded to a prevailing party pursuant to state law.

3. Costs of Investigation. In the event the City Attorney brings an administrative, civil, or special proceeding pursuant to the TPO, the City Attorney may recover its costs of investigation.

8.22.680 Miscellaneous

A. Regulations and Forms. The Rent Board has the authority to make such regulations to implement this O.M.C.8.22 Article V as are not inconsistent with the TPO, provided, however, that if the Rent Board has not issued initial regulations within such time as the City Council may proscribe, the City Administrator is authorized to make interim regulations.

Within ninety (90) days of the effective date of the TPO, the City Administrator shall develop forms to implement 8.22.640.E.
