

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:42 PM
To: npjulian@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Dominico Julian
npjulian@gmail.com
842 Longridge rd.
Oakland, CA 94610

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:41 PM
To: ganymedeix@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth Karger
ganymedeix@yahoo.com
842 Longridge Road
Oakland, CA 94610

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:37 PM
To: dawnantonelli@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Dawn Antonelli
dawnantonelli@gmail.com
2431 Leimert Blvd.
Oakland, CA 94602

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:38 PM
To: john.d.lavoie@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school -- much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment -- and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

John LaVoie

john.d.lavoie@gmail.com

21 orinda way

suite c #347

orinda, ca 94563

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:37 PM
To: carolinelavoie@me.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Caroline LaVoie
carolinelavoie@me.com
21 orinda way #347
orinda, ca 9453

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:34 PM
To: kevin.brennan@am.jll.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

kevin brennan

kevin.brennan@am.jll.com

212 Manzanita Drive, Orinda, CA 94563

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:29 PM
To: drbatra@batravisision.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Nick Batra
drbatra@batravisision.com
17 Sotelo Avenue
Piedmont, CA 94611

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:26 PM
To: jardiniere3@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School’s use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Carmen Cook
jardiniere3@yahoo.com
132 Ardmore Road
Kensington, CA 94707

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:25 PM
To: randallecook@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Randall Cook
randallecook@yahoo.com
132 Ardmore Road
Kensington, CA 94707

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:29 PM
To: loubarbra@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Barbra Walker
loubarbra@yahoo.com
1820 Bay St
Alameda, CA 94501

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:24 PM
To: Sean@SeanGelbaugh.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School’s use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Sean Gelbaugh
Sean@SeanGelbaugh.com
6235 Ascot Dr.
Oakland CA.
94611

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:21 PM
To: mike.evans@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Michael Evans
mike.evans@gmail.com
120 Laura Way
Orinda CA 94563

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:19 PM
To: amehdi323@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School’s use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Azra Mehdi
amehdi323@gmail.com
1536 Lake St
San Francisco, CA 94118

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:17 PM
To: smtoakland@aol.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Scott Taylor, MD
smtOakland@aol.com
6098 Fairlane Drive
Oakland, CA 94611

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:17 PM
To: tmarshburn@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School’s use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Todd Marshburn

tmarshburn@yahoo.com

1042 Trestle Glen Road, Oakland, CA 94610

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:11 PM
To: sheilageritz@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Sheila Geritz

sheilageritz@gmail.com

1814 Hearst Av. Berkeley 94703

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:10 PM
To: pgeritz@headroyce.org
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Patricia Geritz
pgeritz@headroyce.org
1533 Harmon st.
Berkeley, CA, 94703

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:10 PM
To: shari.villagrana@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
shari villagrana
shari.villagrana@gmail.com
3057 Sylvan Ave
Oakland, CA. 94602

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:14 PM
To: chrisleemd@yaHOO.COM
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Chris Lee
chrisleemd@yaHOO.COM
Berkeley, CA 94705

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:08 PM
To: gteuscher@me.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Gayle Teuscher
gteuscher@me.com
1416 Santa Clara Ave.
Alameda, CA

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:04 PM
To: yakubbey.yb@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Yakub Bey

yakubbey.yb@gmail.com

2577 99th Ave Oakland, CA 94605

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:04 PM
To: alund22@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Amy Lund
alund22@yahoo.com
2460 Damuth St.
Oakland, CA

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 7:03 PM
To: jbenenson@hornblower.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Jill Benson

jbenson@hornblower.com

5 West Circle, Oakland 94611

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:56 PM
To: jmamjt@aol.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Jane Andersen
jmamjt@aol.com
836 Oxford Street
Berkeley, CA 94707

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:55 PM
To: gsakoulis@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Georgios Sakoulis
gsakoulis@yahoo.com
5847 Heron Dr
Oakland, CA 94618

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:50 PM
To: susanm49@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School’s use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Susan Miller
susanm49@yahoo.com
139 Lake Ave
Piedmont, CA 94611

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:52 PM
To: cflorance@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Coley Florance
cflorance@yahoo.com
5581 Lawton Ave.
Oakland, CA 94618

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:53 PM
To: waystokked@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
David Stokke
waystokked@yahoo.com
968 Bayview Ave
Oakland CA 94610

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:49 PM
To: calvingibbs@hotmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Calvin Gibbs
calvingibbs@hotmail.com
1016 Camellia Dr,
94502

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:48 PM
To: pdiaz@gmail.org
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Paolo Diaz

pdiaz@gmail.org

5454 Leona st Oakland CA 94619

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:47 PM
To: esrobinson1021@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Eric Robinson

esrobinson1021@gmail.com

1021 Keeler Avenue

Berkeley, CA 94708

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:46 PM
To: kris.vann@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Kris Vann

kris.vann@yahoo.com

4240 Harbor View Ave.

Oakland, CA 94619

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:44 PM
To: rickarney@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Richard Arney
rickarney@yahoo.com
149 La Salle Avenue
Piedmont, CA 94610

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:39 PM
To: harveyezekiellevine@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Harvey Levine

harveyezekiellevine@gmail.com

6461 Regent Street

Oakland CA 94618

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:39 PM
To: weefunk@hotmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Lisa Borden

weefunk@hotmail.com

975 Vermont St., Oakland, CA 94610

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:35 PM
To: TCLEMENTS@KKSRR.COM
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

TRACY CLEMENTS

TCLEMENTS@KKSRR.COM

800 LONGRIDGE ROAD

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:37 PM
To: WEIQING.XU@GMAIL.COM
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

WEIQING XU

WEIQING.XU@GMAIL.COM

3211 FERNSIDE BLVD., ALAMEDA, CA 94501

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:30 PM
To: oldea@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Olivia de Anda

oldea@yahoo.com

62 Chancellor Ln, Berkeley, CA 94705

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:33 PM
To: Rhonda.Gipson@nmsusa.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Rhonda Gipson

Rhonda.Gipson@nmsusa.com

6638 MacArthur BLVD #12, OAKLAND CA 94605

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:28 PM
To: satlieras@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School’s use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Sophia Taula-Lieras
satlieras@gmail.com
5801 Leona St.
Oakland CA 94605

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:28 PM
To: lydiashrestha@sbcglobal.net
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Lydia Shrestha

lydiashrestha@sbcglobal.net

1010 Harvard Rd

Oakland, CA

94610

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:24 PM
To: fast6921@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School’s use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Samantha Furstein
fast6921@yahoo.com
PO Box 192887
San Francisco, CA 94119

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:24 PM
To: mfurstein@Fortress.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Marc Furstein

mfurstein@Fortress.com

PO Box 192887

San Francisco, CA 94119

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:20 PM
To: schillingss@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Steve Schilling

schillingss@gmail.com

2634 Charleston Street, Oakland CA 94602

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:18 PM
To: kurt_scherer@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Kurt Scherer

kurt_scherer@yahoo.com

5940 Taft Avenue

Oakland, CA 94618

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:15 PM
To: sarahhendersonlcs@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

sarah henderson

sarahhendersonlcsw@gmail.com

3695 stoneglenn south

san pablo, ca 94806

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:09 PM
To: britta@sfsu.edu
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School’s use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Britta Sjogren
britta@sfsu.edu
1269 Grand View Dr.
Berkeley, CA 94705

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:07 PM
To: rkhsharm@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Rakhee Sharma
rksharm@gmail.com
207 Sheridan red
Oakland
Ca
94618

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 6:01 PM
To: amurphy@headroyce.org
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Ann Mutphy

amurphy@headroyce.org

4180 Whittle Avenue Oakland ca 94602

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 5:59 PM
To: carroll.timothyj@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Timothy Carroll

carroll.timothyj@gmail.com

523 Kenmore Ave, Oakland, CA, 94610

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 5:37 PM
To: agennis@coblentzlaw.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Alan Gennis
agennis@coblentzlaw.com
2809 Stuart Street
Berkeley, CA 94705

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 5:03 PM
To: jmittelberger@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
James Mittelberger
jmittelberger@gmail.com
6155 Girvin Drive

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 4:14 PM
To: violavince@aol.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Nadine Tolliver
violavince@aol.com
4015 Laguna Ave
Oakland CA 94602

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 4:13 PM
To: taotv@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school -- much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Theresa Tao

taotv@yahoo.com

5959 CONTRA COSTA RD

Oakland, CA 94618

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 2:47 PM
To: walter.fahey@coldwellbanker.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Walter Fahey

walter.fahey@coldwellbanker.com

4233 Lincoln Ave

Oakland, Ca 94602

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 1:36 PM
To: mfahey@headroyce.org
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Mary Fahey

mfahey@headroyce.org

4233 Lincoln Ave

Oakland, Ca 94602

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 1:28 PM
To: jfthomasusa@hotmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Jay Thomas
jfthomasusa@hotmail.com
1633 East 21st Street
Oakland, CA 94606

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 1:15 PM
To: davelevin@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
David Levin
davelevin@gmail.com
1521 Francisco Street
Berkeley CA 94703

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 12:20 PM
To: kfelt@headroyce.org
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Kiki Felt
kfelt@headroyce.org
339 Taurus Ave
Oakland, CA 94611

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 10:37 AM
To: juliewhorton@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible: The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Julie Whorton

juliewhorton@gmail.com

1281 8th Ave Apt 201

San Francisco, CA 94122

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 10:34 AM
To: dharper@headroyce.org
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Debra Harper

dharper@headroyce.org

1622 Excelsior Ave, Oakland, CA 94602

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 10:23 AM
To: kray@headroyce.org
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School’s use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Kathleen Ray
kray@headroyce.org
3513 Maricopa Avenue
Richmond, Ca. 94804

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 9:59 AM
To: thellen@comcast.net
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School’s use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Faith Du Bois
thellen@comcast.net
7201 Snake Road
Oakland, CA 94611

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 9:21 AM
To: sonyaschroeder@me.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Sonya Schroeder
sonyaschroeder@me.com
4 Greenwood Ct.
Orinda, CA 94563

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 8:59 AM
To: mgoglio@headroyce.org
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Mary Goglio
mgoglio@headroyce.org
45 Armanino Court
Oakland, CA 94618

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Thursday, October 22, 2015 9:37 PM
To: reinspruch@gmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School’s use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Robert Einspruch
reinspruch@gmail.com
1701 Carter Street
Oakland, CA 94602

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Thursday, October 22, 2015 9:16 PM
To: dcarr@headroyce.org
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School’s use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Debra Carr
dcarr@headroyce.org
2710 San Jose Ave
Alameda, CA 94501

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Thursday, October 22, 2015 9:12 PM
To: lmuhl@hotmail.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Laszlo Muhl

lmuhl@hotmail.com

Lmuhl@hotmail.com

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Thursday, October 22, 2015 5:19 PM
To: maryvrossi@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School’s use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Mary Rossi
maryvrossi@yahoo.com
4130 Lyman Road
Oakland, Ca 94602

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Thursday, October 22, 2015 4:54 PM
To: ebachman1@aol.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Erica Bachman
ebachman1@aol.com
6066 Estates Drive
Oakland, CA 94611

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Thursday, October 22, 2015 4:11 PM
To: wfernandes@headroyce.org
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Warren Fernandes

wfernandes@headroyce.org

4468 Stanford Avenue

Castro Valley, CA, 94546

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Thursday, October 22, 2015 4:10 PM
To: cmasson@headroyce.org
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Christina Masson

cmasson@headroyce.org

3736 Cesar Chavez Street

San Francisco, CA 94110

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Thursday, October 22, 2015 2:31 PM
To: atherton20@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
John Atherton
atherton20@yahoo.com
1074 Ashmount Avenue
Oakland, CA 94610

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Thursday, October 22, 2015 2:29 PM
To: blakely_atherton@comcast.net
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we’re extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that’s accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That’s why Head-Royce’s application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Blakely Atherton

blakely_atherton@comcast.net

1074 ASHMOUNT AVE

Oakland, CA 94610

Klein, Heather

From: supporters@headroyce.org
Sent: Thursday, October 22, 2015 1:28 PM
To: gvahanian@yahoo.com
Subject: I support Head-Royce School

Dear Commissioners:

I am writing to express my full-throated support for Head-Royce School.

For 50 years, Head-Royce has provided high-quality K-12 education to young people in Oakland. In addition to being one of the best independent schools in America – education we're extremely lucky to have here in our community – Head-Royce provides a great education that's accessible. The School offers a robust financial aid program that helps working families to the tune of over $4 million annually, subsidized bus service, and a culturally-competent education in a vibrant urban community where students of color make up over half of the student body.

And Head-Royce works tirelessly to be a good neighbor:

- Head-Royce contributes over $10,000/year to neighborhood security patrols – in addition to providing 3 full-time security guards that enhance neighborhood safety.
- Head-Royce dedicates trained monitors to direct and streamline drop-off and pick-up traffic – and worked closely with the City to install “NO U-TURN” signs.
- Head-Royce imposes strict driving rules on its visitors – using cameras to enforce rules that are a contractual condition of enrollment and employment.
- Head-Royce has worked with neighbors to fund residential preferential parking, and successfully advocated for a 4.5-ton limit on trucks traveling on Lincoln Avenue.
- Head-Royce has engaged professional traffic planners and engineers to monitor its own traffic and brainstorm ways to reduce it.

Still – like the neighborhoods around many schools – there are impacts. That's why Head-Royce's application before the Planning Commission comes with a host of new rules, regulations, and conditions that represent a significant, new community benefit.

For example, the School has engaged professional transportation planners at Nelson\Nygaard to prepare a Transportation Demand Management Plan designed to ease traffic. The firm recently conducted traffic counts, which showed that the School adds approximately one car per minute to neighboring streets during the busiest periods of drop-off and pick-up. Though this number is fairly small, Head-Royce is committed to reducing single-occupancy vehicle traffic – which is why it has invested over $1 million in subsidized bus service for students and worked closely with AC Transit to protect public bus routes that serve its students.

Head-Royce recognizes the impacts of being on an already-busy thoroughfare, takes proactive steps to lessen it, and works hard to dialogue with concerned neighbors. The School has engaged in longstanding community outreach, and also held a community meeting recently, which I appreciated. And it has promised to continue

this kind of productive communication with neighbors.

Ultimately, Head-Royce is actually a relatively small school – much like their fairly routine request to responsibly, slowly grow by adding just 31 additional students, with new enrollment spread out over several years. (Though Head-Royce is a K-12 school, nearby Montera Middle School has over 1000 students for just three grade levels.)

Head-Royce is a significant community asset that Oakland needs, and one that should thrive. Like many others, I urge you to approve the School's use permit amendment – and the new City staff-recommended rules that will improve the neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Gilbert Vahanian
gvahanian@yahoo.com
635 Spruce St.
Oakland, CA. 94610