RE:

AN ORDINANCE DESIGNATING THE FRUITVALE MASONIC TEMPLE AT 3353-67 INTERNATIONAL BOULEVARD & 1245-49 34TH AVENUE AS A LANDMARK PURSUANT TO SECTION 17.102.030 OF THE OAKLAND PLANNING CODE

SUMMARY

The City Planning Commission recommends designating 3353-67 International Boulevard & 1245-49 34th Avenue as a City of Oakland landmark.

The landmark nomination was submitted to the Landmarks Preservation Advisory Board by the owner, the Unity Council. On December 13, 2004, the Landmarks Board unanimously recommended designation, as did the Planning Commission on February 2, 2005. There is no known opposition to the landmark designation.

Staff recommends that the City Council adopt the attached ordinance designating the Fruitvale Masonic Temple as a City of Oakland landmark.

FISCAL IMPACT

The Landmark designation of the Fruitvale Masonic Temple does not require any additional budget allocation. No additional staffing is required.

BACKGROUND

The Fruitvale Masonic Temple is currently a Potential Designated Historic Property and an anchor in an Area of Secondary Importance, the Fruitvale Commercial District, a potential local historic district.

KEY ISSUES AND IMPACTS

Historical and Architectural Significance: The Fruitvale Masonic Temple is eligible for landmark designation in that it:

Item:____ CED Committee April 26, 2005

AS A LANDMARK

- reflects the era of strong social organizations in its size and significant design, architect and builder, maintaining its second floor use as a Masonic lodge until the mid 1950s:
- reflects the growth of Fruitvale following the 1906 earthquake and fire of San Francisco, when Fruitvale's population doubled;
- is a monumental and somewhat eccentric 1909 Classical Revival mixed-use commercial building, with Ionic pilasters, elaborate capitals, and a classical entablature with dentils and modillions;
- is architecturally distinctive in that the second floor is windowless to reflect its function as a meeting hall for secret Masonic ceremonies;
- exhibits high quality second floor meeting hall interiors, including Egyptian and Babylonian themes with elaborate columns, painted walls and gold trim;
- was originally designed by Fruitvale architect and engineer Hugo Storch (with the final design apparently by the lodge's building committee) and built by W. G. Thornally, Jr. who was a prominent Oakland contractor and builder of many homes and commercial properties throughout Oakland, including the Scottish Rite Temple on Lake Merritt;
- was expanded in 1926 with an annex designed by Howard Schroeder, where sports has more recently contributed to the building's significance as George Foreman practiced at Babe's Gym located in the annex and African American fencing master Harold C. Hayes established his fencing club there from 1986 through 1995;
- continues to maintain its importance in this era as the current owner, the Unity Council, is one of the strongest community-based development organizations in Oakland:
- is an anchor and gateway building for the Fruitvale commercial district and the Unity Council's Transit Village development, with its prominent corner location at the district's center.

The building has a rating of 'A - Highest Importance' on the Landmarks Preservation Advisory Board Evaluation Sheet for Landmark Eligibility and a 'B – Major Importance' from the Oakland Cultural Heritage Survey. The reason for the difference is that the LPAB updated the Evaluation Sheet for Landmark Eligibility for Item #14, the Exterior Alterations category under Integrity. The rating was 'G – Minor changes to overall character' per the Oakland Cultural Heritage Survey which had been evaluated prior to the most recent façade improvements. Within the last year, the façade has been renovated and this most recent renovation brought back a more compatible character. The Board corrected the form by splitting the difference between 'E – No changes or very minor alterations which do not change the overall character' and 'G – Minor changes to overall character'. This change raised the points from the 'B' rating to the 'A' rating. Landmark ratings are generally higher than the Survey's ratings. Buildings are eligible for Landmark Designation with either an 'A' or 'B' rating.

RE: ORDINANCE DESIGNATING THE FRUITVALE MASONIC TEMPLE AS A LANDMARK

Regulatory Effect of Designation: The Fruitvale Masonic Temple is located in the C-28 Zone, Commercial Shopping District Zone. Design Review is currently required for alterations to buildings and new construction.

Regulations for the proposed landmark status provide for design review of exterior changes (only), up to 240 days delay of demolition, and a duty to keep in good repair. The landmark would be treated as a historic resource for purposes of CEQA review, would be eligible to use the State Historical Building Code, and exempt from design review fees (the only direct local monetary incentive currently offered to designated historic properties).

Significant exterior changes to landmark properties are referred to the Landmarks Preservation Advisory Board for recommendations (Section 17.136.040) before the design review application is acted upon by the Development Director or the Planning Commission. Minor exterior changes can be processed administratively by the Development Director, who may seek input from the LPAB, as needed.

For designated landmarks (Section 17.102.030) the design review criteria require "That the proposal will not adversely affect the exterior features of the designated landmark..." and "That the proposal will not adversely affect the special character, interest, or value of the landmark and its site, as viewed both in themselves and in their setting..." unless preserving the landmark is architecturally or economically infeasible.

SUSTAINABLE OPPORTUNITIES

Economic: Landmark designation encourages maintenance and careful rehabilitation of buildings, which creates skilled employment opportunities. Maintenance and rehabilitation of existing buildings also stabilize and enhance property values.

Environmental: Landmark designation encourages the maintenance and re-use of existing historic buildings and therein helps to conserve the materials and energy used to construct those buildings.

Social Equity: Landmark designation encourages continued maintenance and restoration or rehabilitation of existing buildings. Therefore, it acts as a catalyst for neighborhood revitalization and further enhances the community by creating community identity.

DISABILITY AND SENIOR CITIZEN ACCESS

Landmark designation does not prohibit modifications to achieve compliance with the American with Disabilities Act (ADA) and can facilitate such modifications through use of the State Historical Building Code.

RE: ORDINANCE DESIGNATING THE FRUITVALE MASONIC TEMPLE

AS A LANDMARK

RECOMMENDATION(S) AND RATIONALE

Adopt the attached ordinance designating the Fruitvale Masonic Temple as a City of Oakland Landmark.

Landmark designation has the potential to be a catalyst for further revitalization of Oakland's distinct and diverse neighborhoods and its strong historical character. The honorific designation and requirements for maintenance and repair would continually promote economic, quality of life and sense of community goals throughout the city as the building is restored or rehabilitated.

SUMMARY

The nomination of the Fruitvale Masonic Temple for Landmark Designation was submitted by the property owner, the Unity Council, on October 7, 2004, and reviewed by the Landmarks Preservation Advisory Board (LPAB, Board) at its November 8, 2004 meeting. At that meeting the LPAB reviewed and unanimously accepted the preliminary Evaluation Sheet for Landmark Eligibility rating, and directed staff to prepare a draft resolution initiating landmark designation. The draft resolution recommending landmark designation was unanimously adopted at the LPAB meeting of December 13, 2004, and the Board directed staff to forward the nomination to the Planning Commission for public hearing, after which the Commission may recommend designation to the City Council. Landmark designation is accomplished thorough adoption of an ordinance by the City Council.

BACKGROUND

The Fruitvale Masonic Temple is currently a Potential Designated Historic Property and an anchor in an Area of Secondary Importance (ASI), the Fruitvale Commercial potential local historic district. (See Attachment A).

Historical and Architectural Significance

As reflected in the evaluation sheet and resolution adopted by the Landmarks Board, the Masonic Temple has been found eligible for landmark designation in that it:

- reflects the era of strong social organizations in its size and significant design, architect and builder, maintaining its second floor use as a Masonic lodge until the mid 1950s;
- reflects the growth of Fruitvale following the 1906 earthquake and fire of San Francisco, when Fruitvale's population doubled;
- is a monumental and somewhat eccentric 1909 Classical Revival mixed-use commercial building, with Ionic pilasters, elaborate capitals, and a classical entablature with dentils and modillions;
- is architecturally distinctive in that the second floor is windowless to reflect its function as a meeting hall for secret Masonic ceremonies;
- exhibits high quality second floor meeting hall interiors, including Egyptian and Babylonian themes with elaborate columns, painted walls and gold trim;
- was originally designed by Fruitvale architect and engineer Hugo Storch (with the final design apparently by the lodge's building committee) and built by W. G.
   Thornally, Jr. who was a prominent Oakland contractor and builder of many homes and commercial properties throughout Oakland, including the Scottish Rite Temple on Lake Merritt;
- was expanded in 1926 with an annex designed by Howard Schroeder, where sports has more recently contributed to the building's significance as George Foreman practiced at Babe's Gym located in the annex and African American fencing master Harold C. Hayes established his fencing club there from 1986 through 1995;
- continues to maintain its importance in this era as the current owner, the Unity Council, is one of the strongest community-based development organizations in Oakland;
- is an anchor and gateway building for the Fruitvale commercial district and the Unity Council's Transit Village development, with its prominent corner location at the district's center.

The building has a rating of 'A - Highest Importance' on the Landmarks Preservation Advisory Board Evaluation Sheet for Landmark Eligibility and a 'B - Major Importance' from the Oakland Cultural Heritage Survey. The reason for the difference is that the LPAB updated the Evaluation Sheet for Landmark Eligibility for Item #14, the Exterior Alterations category under Integrity. The rating was 'G - Minor changes to overall character' per the Oakland Cultural Heritage Survey which had been evaluated prior to the most recent façade improvements. Within the last year, the façade has been renovated and this most recent renovation brought back a more compatible character. The Board corrected the form by splitting the difference between 'E - No changes or very minor alterations which do not change the overall character' and 'G - Minor changes to overall character'. This change raised the points from the 'B' rating to the 'A' rating. Landmark ratings are generally higher than the Survey's ratings. Buildings are eligible for Landmark Designation with either an 'A' or 'B' rating.

Landmarks Board Hearing

The public comments at the November 8, 2004 LPAB meeting demonstrated support for the designation. Ms. Jenny Kassan of the Unity Council, as property owner and applicant, expressed strong enthusiasm for the building to be landmarked because a big part of the Unity Council's commercial district revitalization is preserving the historic assets of the community and they are excited to be the owner of this building. Ms. Kassan also stated that one of the main purposes of the designation is that it will be an example for the community. Landmarking of the Masonic Temple will draw attention to the importance and beauty of historic buildings. The Unity Council also talks to business owners about their historic buildings and how it would be good to maintain and rehabilitate them. Ms. Kassan informed the Board that the first floor would be commercial space, including a pharmacy. Upstairs is a family literacy program. There will be a public market component on the first floor to create an attraction to the existing commercial district from the new Fruitvale Village.

Effect of Landmark Designation

Regulations for the proposed landmark status provide for design review of exterior changes (only), up to 240 days delay of demolition, and a duty to keep in good repair. The landmark would be treated as a historic resource for purposes of CEQA review, would be eligible to use the State Historical Building Code, and exempt from design review fees (the only direct local monetary incentive currently offered to designated historic properties).

Significant exterior changes to landmark properties are referred to the Landmarks Preservation Advisory Board for recommendations (Section 17.136.040) before the design review application is acted upon by the Development Director or the Planning Commission. Minor exterior changes can be processed administratively by the Development Director, who may seek input from the LPAB, as needed.

For designated landmarks (Section 17.102.030) the design review criteria require "That the proposal will not adversely affect the exterior features of the designated landmark..." and "That the proposal will not adversely affect the special character, interest, or value of the landmark and its site, as viewed both in themselves and in their setting..." unless preserving the landmark is architecturally or economically infeasible.

RECOMMENDATION

- 1. Affirm the environmental determination.
- Recommend that City Council adopt an ordinance designating the Masonic Temple at 3353-67 International Boulevard & 1245-49 34th Avenue an Oakland Landmark.

FRUITVALE MASONIC TEMPLE - DESCRIPTION

3353-67 International Boulevard is a Classical Revival hall and store building on a corner lot in the Fruitvale commercial district. It was built in 1909 (the 1910 city tax assessment block book notes $7,000. in "new" improvements on the site) on the Levy Tract at the SW corner of East 14th (later International Boulevard) and Brandon Streets (renamed 34th Avenue, and recently reconfigured as a pedestrian plaza named Avenida De La Fuente). It is two-story, rectangular plan (about 75' x 130') wood-frame building with brick party wall intersecting the International Boulevard property line. It was designed for ground floor commercial (which it still retains) with second floor Masonic meeting hall, banquet room and rooms.

The first floor commercial was originally designed for four tenants, according to newpaper accounts - Oakland Tribune, May 2, 1910, special section for the Eagle Carnival<sup>4</sup> - and has seen extensive alterations over the years for different tenants needs. Recently, the first floor has been redesigned for a single tenant, Farmacia, to somewhat resemble the original. Large signs and a billboard have been removed; transom windows have been replaced; plate glass display windows opened up; a corner entrance has been re-established. The original recessed entry with stairs to the upper level at the northwest end of the building still remains. Siding on the first level is wide horizontal board; a molded belt course separates the two floors.

A photograph of the building, accompanying the Tribune's Eagle Carnival story, shows the second level remarkably unchanged. The almost windowless second floor elevations have unusually spaced Ionic pilasters (5 on the International Boulevard side) with elaborate capitals. Wall sections between the pilasters are covered with either plain narrow horizontal wood siding or, a pair of blind window frames are above the recessed entry, a set of five near the center of the building. Above the pilasters is a classical entablature with modillions above a dentil course.

Rectangular panels with two blind windows flank the bay. At the far left wall section of the 34th Avenue/Avenida De La Fuente side are two double hung windows.

Over all, a parapet above the entablature has paneled posts above each of the pilasters with an extra post between two of the pilasters on the East 14th Street side. Behind the

with an extra post between two of the pilasters on the East 14th Street side. Behind the parapet is a slightly domed roof probably supported by trusses over the 2nd floor Masonic hall.

The second floor interior, when last seen in the late 1990s, had most of its features intact with themed rooms, in Egyptian and Babylonian styles. The windowless feature of the second story speaks to its function as a meeting hall for lodges with their secret ceremonies.

The building has a two story wood annex, 1251-59 34th Avenue, to the rear, built in 1926. It originally had ground floor commercial space with a banquet room, stage and mezzanine in the second level. The second floor façade is a symmetrical arrangement of three large semicircular blind arches defined by plain shallow plaster architraves. These are flanked by paired 6-light casement windows (now blocked by plywood). The first floor originally had two storefronts; at a later date it was covered and used for storage. In the early 2000s, the street level façade was altered to single tenant with recessed entry and double row of transom windows above. It is now the offices of the Fruitvale Community Development Corporation.

FRUITVALE MASONIC TEMPLE - SIGNIFICANCE

The Fruitvale Masonic Temple is an anchor for the Fruitvale commercial district with its significant corner location at the district's center. Its size and significant design, architect and builder, attest to the importance of the Masons, and reflect an era of strong social organizations. The building also stands as a testimony to Fruitvale's, and the city of Oakland's, fantastic growth (especially from 1890s – 1930s) and Fruitvale's importance as a social, cultural and commercial center. The building's importance continues in this era as its current owner, the Unity Council, is one of the strongest political, financial and community organizations in Oakland.

The building (and annex as a supporting element) appears eligible for the National Register. The building is in good condition considering its age and other alterations of commercial buildings in the neighborhood. Its integrity is good. When last seen in the late 1990s, the second floor interior with its secret meeting halls in Babylonian and Egyptian themes, fancy columns, painted walls and gold trim, had most of its features intact.

Social and fraternal organizations were at their height in the early 1900s. A page in Beautiful Fruitvale<sup>1</sup>, a 1905 promotional pamphlet published by the Fruitvale Board of Trade, talked about the many fraternal organizations that met at (an earlier) Fruitvale Masonic Lodge. The organizations were "...rich in membership and funds, and do great deal of good for the members, as also for humanity."

The Masons had been at another location on East 14th Street (now International Boulevard), listed at 3123 East 14th since at least 1904. The "new" Fruitvale Masonic Temple was dedicated on November 20th, 1909<sup>2</sup>. The lot had been owned by the Masons since around 1905, and building their own temple had been a long cherished plan for the Fruitvale Masons. Various newspaper articles from 1905 to 1909 attest to differing designs and dimensions for the building, with building costs from ranging from $20, to 75,000

The 1905 Oakland Herald<sup>3</sup> describes a "handsome" stone building, completely covering the lot to be built at the cost of $35,000. The Lodge had received "...a donation from H.W.Storch, formerly an architect, (of) the plans and specifications..." for the design of the building.

In January 1906 the Oakland Herald describes plans for a three-story building, costing $40,000, with "enough stock pledged by members to warrant calling for bids and builders." The proposed design had a "second story for a music hall and modern stage with dressing rooms with all the modern appliances and will be a boon to the many musical entertainments that have had to go away from Fruitvale to find a suitable place..." and the third floor would be Masonic halls.

1- Note: superscript numbers in the text refer to articles attached to the application.

In May 1906, after the San Francisco earthquake and fire, the Fruitvale Progress has an article about the Mason's altering their plans for a new temple, because similar buildings to those contemplated by the Masons went down with the earthquake or were destroyed in the fire.

An Oakland Herald article, May 1907, showed a drawing of the prospective building as a two-story, 75x150', with costs projected at $75,000.

A February 1909 Oakland Enquirer stated that the cornerstone "has been laid" for the new two-story lodge "...fronting 15 feet on East 14th Street and has a depth of 115 feet on Brandon Street." At an estimated cost of $20,000, plans had been drawn by architect H.W.Storch, who at that time was secretary of the lodge.

The first newspaper account, with a photograph of the building as we know it, is a special edition of the Tribune announcing the week-long Eagle Street Carnival<sup>4</sup>. The photo of the temple shows Parker's Millinery and Alpha Restaurant on the East 14th Street side and describes the building as 75x115 feet, with four stores on street level, recessed entrance at the rear of the Brandon Street (34th Avenue) side. It mentions that "many plans had been drawn ... but it wasn't until the efforts of this present board of directors, that matters were hashed out and the building finally built." The article continues "... not having an architect, the board formed themselves into a building committee and with the assistance of the contractor the various designs were worked out." The building was erected by W. G. Thornally, Jr., a Fruitvale contractor, and a member of the Fruitvale Lodge. The article also notes that on the second level were a lodge room, banquet hall, anterooms and a ladies parlor. Besides the Masons, the Improved Order of Red Men, Order of the Eastern Star, Native Daughters of California and First Church of Christ. Scientist, also called the building home.

The complicated and drawn out construction history and design by committee, using Storch's plans, may account for the unique look of the building, its eccentric approach to Classical Revival design. Hugo Storch was born in Mexico in 1873 and worked in the office of San Francisco architect John Nash<sup>5</sup>. He lived in the Fruitvale neighborhood (3114 Lynde Street), and, according to 1981 Oakland Cultural Heritage Survey (OCHS) file, for a brief period around 1911 maintained an office on East 14th Street. He was known primarily as an engineer, but had built two churches. Both were designed in the Mission Revival style: Fruitvale Congregational Church on Fruitvale Avenue (demolished around 1975) and Park Congregational Church in Berkeley. Storch died in his early 40s.

W. J. Thornally, Jr., builder and contractor, was better known<sup>6</sup>. Born in 1876, he built many single family homes, multi family housing & commercial properties through out Oakland, but particularly in the Fruitvale. Of his significant buildings in Oakland, the most prominent are the Scottish Rites Temple on Lake Merritt, and two in Fruitvale for the Telephone and Telegraph Company: one on 2112 Fruitvale Avenue, the other on 3430 Foothill Avenue. He also built a number of commercial properties on East 14th street at 3323-33, 3315-19, and 3600-04. He was president of the Oakland Builders Exchange for five years, also president of the California State Builders Exchange, and was a Master of the Fruitvale Lodge of Masons. He collapsed of a heart attack in downtown Oakland and was taken to Highland Hospital where he died at age 53 in 1934.

In Fruitvale, two other fraternal organizations built halls at this time. The Knights of Pythias had their three story lodge hall at 3254-58 East 14th Street in 1913. Originating on the East Coast, their lodges in Alameda County were among the earliest in California. (Originally built in the Mission Revival style, the lodge was significantly remodeled to black and white Art Deco tile in the 1940s by the Associacao Protectora Uniao Madeirense do Estado da California, APUMEC, a Portuguese Benevolent society. The building is now an apostolic Christian Church.) Another fraternal order of importance in the neighborhood were the Eagles. It is the opening of their brick lodge hall at 3718 East 14th that was the foundation for a week long celebration, the Eagle Street Carnival, subject of the special edition of the May 1910 Oakland Tribune mentioned earlier. (The Eagle hall was demolished in the 1920s to make way for a movie theater.)

The beginning of the 20th century was an important period for Fruitvale's development. Population had doubled when refugees escaped from and settled after the 1906 earthquake and fire of San Francisco. With an already established commercial district at the intersection of East 14th and Fruitvale, and both local and national train service, the area grew with the help of an enthusiastic group of real estate developers, the draw of a "felicitous" climate, and local industry for jobs (canneries and the California Cotton Mills). In a November 1909 election, the district (along with Melrose and the rest of East Oakland) had voted for annexation to the city of Oakland. The vote was not without opposition, and many reassurances had had to come from the city of Oakland before Fruitvale was convinced, but now it was ready to show off. A February 4, 1910<sup>7</sup> Fruitvale Progress noted, that, with the building of their new hall the Eagles proposed a street festival "...a week of jollity and celebration....which would ....put Fruitvale and Melrose before the outside public." The event had the support of the local merchants and eventually included 3 blocks of banners and booths, dedication of the Eagles' hall, a parade, and a crowning of a queen, a local Fruitvale girl, on the last evening<sup>8-9</sup>. The Masonic Temple was open to the public all week in celebration of the grand event.

By the 1920s, with mushrooming growth, there was a fully established commercial district offering a hospital, medical offices, culture, shopping and many banks, and tourism (Bentley's Ostrich Farm was amongst its attractions.) It was during this period that alterations were made to the Masonic Temple. Permit #A 17952, dated June 22, 1926, with builder Alex Weiben, for the cost of $18,000 for a two story addition, indicates that this is when the 34th Avenue annex was built. In 1928,'36 and '38 minor alterations (each less than $1000.) were made to the annex by J.B. Petersen & Son, also a well know builder in the Fruitvale.

From the 1930s through the 1980s (gone by the 1988 telephone directory), Gabardine's was the main commercial tenant on the ground level. It was advertised as a general merchandise store. In 1992-93 Oakland Furniture is listed there in directories, and, according to OCHS forms, by 1994 Bargain Furniture is the tenant.

The Masons presence in East 14th Street ended in the 1950s. A November 11, 1954 Oakland Tribune<sup>10</sup> article showed the Masons digging a cornerstone for a new hall on Galindo and Fruitvale Avenue. A modern building, whose $125,000 price includes furnishings, a sheltered interior court and kitchen storage facilities, it was "... in keeping with a new era in lodge building in the Bay area."

Sports play a large part in the Temple annex on 34th Avenue from about 1959 to 1995. Babe's Gym is listed there in phone directories from 1953 through 1970.

According to Henry Winston, a boxing promoter who promoted George Foreman, and who is still in the business, Babe's is one of the places that George Foreman practiced when he was in town<sup>11</sup>. Also Pacific Fencing Club, owned by Harold C. Hayes, moved from downtown to this location in 1984. A graduate of Stanford, Hayes, as an African American fencing master, is a rarity in an already unusual field. He had established his club in 1984 at 570 14th Street and moved to the Temple annex in 1986. It was a popular venue and drew students from around the Bay area. But a Spring 1995 article in the Oakland Tribune laments the fact that, due to a skyrocketing rent increase, the club was forced to move out of the building<sup>12</sup>. The club relocated to 2329 Santa Clara Avenue in 1996, and is still there today.

Regarding ownership of the building after the Masons, the owner, according to the 1981 OCHS form, was the Shoong Foundation located at 829 Sacramento Street, San Francisco. In the 1993 OCHS form, the owner, since 1986 was Raymond J. Castor, c/o Milton Shoong Foundation, 1611 Telegraph Avenue in Oakland. Sometime around 1995-96 the building went into receivership.

In 1996 Cessaly Hutchison, who had been a student at the Pacific Fencing club, sent a letter to the city<sup>13</sup>, noting the building's historic status, and urged them to buy the building. The Spanish Speaking Unity Council bought the building in 1996. The Unity Council has positioned the Masonic Temple as a gateway building, connecting the commercial district along International Boulevard to the Transit Village, through the new pedestrian plaza.

the building department of the Mason McDuffie Company. He designed the row of shops on Arlington Avenue in Kensington and the Roberts Studio. 2134 Allston Way (1930). The June 1936 issue of Architect and Engineer features a Ranch-style home he designed in Sacramento.

Walter Steilberg (1886-1974)

Walter Steilberg graduated from the University of California, Berkeley, in 1910 and worked in the architectural offices of Irving Gill, Myron Hunt, John Galen Howard, and Julia Morgan before setting up his own practice in 1921. He resided on Panoramic Hill where many of his residential buildings can be found. The College Women's Club at 2080 Bancroft Way (1928) is Steilberg's largest commission still standing and is a Berkeley landmark.

Louis S. Stone & Henry C. Smith

The architectural firm of Stone and Smith designed several schools in Berkeley, which are no longer standing, and many San Francisco commercial buildings. Henry C. Smith was born in San Jose in 1873 and graduated from the University of Pennsylvania. He returned to the Bay Area in 1900 and became a partner of Stone's. In 1909 he opened his own office. His Mikkelsen and Berry Building at 2124 Center Street (1902) and the Francis Kittredge Shattuck Building at 2100 Shattuck Avenue (1901) are Berkeley landmarks.

Hugo Storch (1873-1917)

Hugo Storch was born in Mexico. During the 1890s he worked in the office of San Francisco architect John Nash. Storch did more engineering than design, and was an expert at integrating elevators into existing buildings. Park Congregational Church. 1802 Fairview Street (1912), is his only building in Berkeley.

John Hudson Thomas (1878-1945)

John Hudson Thomas was born in Nevada. He graduated from Yale University in 1904 and the University of California, Berkeley, in 1904. Between 1904 and 1906 he worked for John Calen Howard. He formed a partnership with George Plowman in 1907, and in 1910 set up his own office. During a career he designed a large number of important homes in several eclectic styles and is considere one of the most innovative East Bay architects a ing the first quarter of the century. His Berkeley landmarks are the Hume Cloister, 2900 Buena Ver Way (1928), the Captain Maury House, 1317 Shat tuck Avenue (1922), and the Loring House, 1730 Spruce Street (1914).

William Weeks (1866-1936)

William Weeks was born on Prince Edward Island the son of a builder-architect. He settled in Watsonville in 1896 and designed several buildings for the Spreckels Sugar Company. In 1904 he established a practice in San Francisco and became a prolific designer of schools, libraries, and public buildings in California. His own house was at 800 Highland Avenue, Piedmont (1922). His Berkeley buildings include: the Bishop Berkeley Apartments, 2709 Dwight Way (1928), and the Durant Hotel, 2600 Durant Avenue (1928), a Berkeley landmark.

Oscar Wenderoth (1897-1938)

Oscar Wenderoth was born in Philadelphia and died in Washington D. C. He began working for the United States Supervising Architect in 1897 and became head of the department in 1912. He retired in 1929. During his career he designed many post offices across the United States including Berkeley's main post office, 2004 Allston Way (1914).

William Wharff (1836-1936)

William Wharff came to California in 1875 from Maine, and settled in Berkeley in 1899. Wharff appears to have been a self-taught architect and an active member of the Masonic Temple. His Berkeley landmarks are the Pfister Knitting Mill, 2602 Eighth Street (1906), the Masonic Temple, 2105 Bancroft Way (1905), and the Carlson Block, 3228 Adeline Street (1903).

BIOGRAPHY: Lived in Oakland as a young man with his family at 3027 East 16th Street. Worked with his father as a carpenter. Became a successful contractor and built many single family homes, multi-family housing, and commercial properties throughout Oakland particularly in the Fruitvale neighborhood.

His most significant construction projects include the Scottish Rite Temple on the shore of Lake Merritt, several buildings for Pacific Telephone & Telegraph, the Arroyo Sanitarium in Livermore, Montclair School and Bay City Iron Works which he built for his brother Harry's business at 4th & Washington in downtown Oakland.

William served as vice president (1939) and president (1940) of the California State Builders Exchange. It is rumored that William may have had an affair with the secretary of the Oakland Builders Exchange. The two of them travelled together frequently.

William was also president of the Oakland Builders Exchange for 5 years. He was a member of the Sequoia Country Club and helped arrange for Ed & Lottie Pattillo to hold their wedding reception at the club.

He was also a member of the Eastbay Breakfast Club, the Scottish Rite and the Aahmes Temple of the Shrine. He held the position of master of the Fruitvale Lodge of Masons.

William lived at 832 Paramount Road and 377 Lennox. Other addresses for Will include 285 Lee Street and 150 Lake. Lottie Pattillo remembers visiting her uncle, aunt Agnus and cousins at their Paramount home which was considered very ritzy at the time. She remembers her uncle as very nice and kind to her.

William died at Highland Hospital where he was taken after collapsing at 17th and Webster Streets in downtown Oakland. Funeral services were held at Clarence N. Cooper Chapel in Fruitvale. William's wife Agnus was born on December 2, 1882 and died on December 12, 1934 at age 53.

William and Agnus's son Ralph worked for the Army at Moffett Field, CA. Their son George Francis was very handsome and nice as a young man. Both he and Ralph graduated from college. George became a Lieutenant Commander in the Navy.

A California fediure

Pillars and other classical detailing, including delicate stenciling, along the cornice of the oblong shaped chamber are still visible, attesting to the dignified functions once performed there.

Throughout California, Masonic Halls often among the earliest buildings in a community, (several can be found in the Gold" Country) still stand. Typically they were located in business districts, had ground floor merchantile activities that generated rent, and upper floor meeting rooms, banquet halls and ceremony chambers.

Fruitvale's Masonic Association relocated to a new facility in 1954 and the building has had a succession of owners. since. Recently it went into receivership. A brick wall along the west side of the structure qualifies it as an unreinforced masonry building under the city's URM Ordinatice. Because of its receivership status, it is uncertain when the necessary retrofitting will be completed.

The fencing club, unable to come to terms with the rent increase has left the building and has relocated temporarily to the Oakland Ballet Academy on MacArthur Boulevard in the Dimond District

Gessaly Hutchinson is sorry to see the fencing clubulave; but believes that because of the building shistoric status: financial assistance might beet found to carty out a restoration?

The building could be eligible for Flistoric Preservation Tax Gredits and the State Historical Building Code might apply with regard to code upgrades. If the building received local landmark status, a Mills Act Contract ( a property tax reassessment for qualified historic buildings) might prove attractive to a future buyer.

The old Masonic Hall is located in the heart of Frilltvale's identified NCR (Neighborhood Commercial Revitalization) District and the city is awaiting word on whether Oakland is designated a California Mainstreet Community. The East 14th Street corridor in Fruitvale is the "mainstreet" targeted for the technical assistance provided by California Mainstreet, a program used successfully in many communities statewide. The local nonprofit organization, Spanish Speaking Unity Council is coordinating the various revitalizing efforts underway including plans for a transitvillage concept for the Fruitvale BART station.

The front portion of the building was built in 1909 and an annex noitrog (containing the fencing studio) was added in 1926.

I think this building, if reliabilitated would make a fine addition to the neighborhood," says Cessaly

The fencing club recently received its nonprofit 50lc3 status and is pursuing grants to expand its classes and offer instruction to local youth. Those interested in learning more about the Pacific Fencing Club and the availability of classes should contact Harold C. Hayes, the number is 436-3800.

Fencers need a new place to duel

By Stacey Wells STAFF WRITER

OAKLAND — For seven years, Cessaly, Hutchinson has walked up the wide, "wooden staircase every Wednesday at 6" p.m. to the Pacific Fencing Club.

When she steps over the threshold onto the raised hardwood floor, she enters auother world. Within seconds, the workday pressures of commuting and being a legal analyst are gone.

For the next few hours it's just Hutchinson and her foll, bound together in an intricate sport that's half brains, half phys, ical endurance and completely intoxicating.

"It's like playing a physical chess game," she said. "You have the tools to win, but it's just how you put it together. The possibilities of winning and enjoying the game are endless."

But Hutchinson and her classmates at the Oakland fencing club are worried.

A $1,100-a-month rent increase has forced owner Harold Rayes to close his 11-year-old academy in the Fruitvale district, temporarily relocate to the Oakland Ballet Academy and search for a new, permanent facility.

Students worried

While Hayes brushes off the predicament as a minor inconvenience and an opportunity to start over, his students are concerned that this may lead to the end of Oakhand's only club dedicated to fencing.

"Oh God, it's really depressing," said Steve Baker, a one-year student who travels from Richmond to study under Hoyes. "I'm concerned because it's tough. And a fencing master is not a high-paid job."

"People are beginning to identify the club as being Oukland. We get people from Concord and San Mateo and sometimes as far away as Livermore," said Hutchinson.

It's like playing a physical chess game. You have the tools to win, but it's just how you put it together. The possibilities of winning and enjoying the game are endless."

Cessaly Hutchinson

"Us moving is going to take away from that stability. We can all recover from setbacks, but how long does it take us?"

Hayes' landlord, Frank Satterwhite, a Hayward attorney, said the rent hike from $600 to $1,700 a month enforces a lease agreement between Hayes and the building's former owner. But Hayes said that agreement was waived by his former landlord because tenant improvements were not completed in time, forcing Hayes to lose business.

Hayes moved into the nondescript building on 34th Avenue in 1986, after relocating from downtown. The building was constructed in 1909 as the Fruitvale Masonic Temple, according to the Oakland Cultural Heritage Survey. Hayes club is upstairs, in a room once occupied by Babe's Gym, where heavyweight champion boxer George Foreman reportedly once trained.

Classical training

There is a remaissance feeling to the club. Hayes' collection of swords — mostly the lightweight, flexible foll, but also the epec and sabre — line walls. Dozens of pictures of champions, instructors and groups of students hang on the walls. There is a library to teach students the history of fencing. Hayes, whose background is in pithosophy, traced the lineage of his own instructors back to 18th century Rome.

It's that history, and what students describe as Hayes' philosophical approach to teaching fencing, that have brought them here. Some come from as far away as Concord, San Mateo, Livermore and even San Francisco, which boasts a renowned club of its own. Playes utilizes the Socratic method in teaching, compelling students to find their own answers and solutions to complex dillemmas that arise during bouts.

Plus, Hayes and instructor: Arthur Lane offer students a combined 92 years of experience to about 100 students.

"If you look at the general world of things, there are people very interested in recreation, health, fitness, personal growth, social contact and historical continuity," he said: "Fencing has all that."

"I needed to get some exercise and it's a good way to do that," said Mark Byrne of Oakland. "It's really cerebral — kind of keeps your mind off of working out."

Must stay focused

Andrejka Coklyat of San Francisco begar fencing three years ago at Hayes' club because she thought she would enjoy the combat. As a little gltl, she always' day dreamed of sword lights.

"Now I realize how much it's a more se rious art," she said. "It's about focusin and self-control."

Hayes admits the pending move will be disruptive and some of what makes the clumique will be lost. But he refuses to let upset his own composure.

"This may be an opportunity to improve everything," he said. "Improve the location improve the level of operation and redesig the business I am in."

Honorable Mayor Elihu Harris & City Manager Craig Kocian 1 City Hall Plaza Oakland, CA. 94612

Re: Acquisition of Historic Property 1249-34th Avenue

Oakland, CA

October 24, 1996

Dear Mayor Harris and City Manager Craig Rocian:

There is a historic property at 1249-34th Avenue in the Fruitvale District called the Gabardine.

It was built in the early 1900's by the Masonic Lodge Brothers, then went on to become various business entities until the 1960's, when it was Babe's Gym. Reportedly, George Foreman boxed there. In the 1980's, it was a fencing club.

I propose that the city purchase the property and rennovate it as a museum and a local and national historic landmark.

Enclosed are 2 articles published in May and June, 1995, respectively, in the Tribune and the Montclarion regarding this structure.

The city could then lease the building back to a nonprofit corporation that would be responsible for the upkeep and operation of the structure.

I would appreciate the courtesy of a reply at your earliest convenience.

Thank-you.

Sincerely,

Cessey D. Ant Church

Cessaly D. Hutchinson

RESOLUTION 2004-6 LANDMARKS PRESERVATION ADVISORY BOARD CITY OF OAKLAND

WHEREAS, a proposal to designate the following property as an Oakland Landmark pursuant to Section 17.144 of the Oakland Planning Code has been considered by the Landmarks Preservation Advisory Board; and

WHEREAS, the Board has reviewed and examined the material pertaining to this property in Case File LM04-510 and the Oakland Landmark Nomination Application form, a copy of which is attached; and

WHEREAS, the Board has determined that the property meets the landmark designation criteria found at Section 17.07.030P of the Planning Code and the Board's Guidelines for Determination of Landmark Eligibility in that the property:

- reflects the era of strong social organizations in its size and significant design, architect and builder, maintaining its second floor use as a Masonic lodge until the mid 1950s;
- reflects the growth of Fruitvale following the 1906 earthquake and fire of San Francisco, when Fruitvale's population doubled;
- is a monumental and somewhat eccentric 1909 Classical Revival mixed-use commercial building, with Ionic pilasters, elaborate capitals, and a classical entablature with dentils and modillions;
- is architecturally distinctive in that the second floor is windowless to reflect its function as a meeting hall for secret Masonic ceremonies;
- exhibits high quality second floor meeting hall interiors, including Egyptian and Babylonian themes with elaborate columns, painted walls and gold trim;
- was originally designed by Fruitvale architect and engineer Hugo Storch (with the final design apparently by the lodge's building committee) and built by W. J. Thornally, Jr. who was a prominent Oakland contractor and builder of many homes and commercial properties throughout Oakland, including the Scottish Rite Temple on Lake Merritt;
- was expanded in 1926 with an annex designed by Howard Schroeder, where sports has more recently contributed to the building's significance as George Foreman practiced at Babe's gym located in the annex and African American fencing master Harold C. Hayes established his fencing club there from 1986 through 1995;

- continues to maintain its importance in this era as the current owner, the Unity Council, is one of the strongest community-based development organizations in Oakland;
- is an anchor and gateway building for the Fruitvale commercial district and the Unity Council's Transit Village development, with its prominent corner location at the district's center.

And WHEREAS, an Evaluation Sheet for Landmark Eligibility has been prepared for the property in accordance with the Board's Guidelines for Determination of Landmark Eligibility; and

WHEREAS, the Evaluation Sheet shows that the property meets the Guidelines; and

WHEREAS, the Board has reviewed and accepted the Evaluation Sheet, a copy of which is attached; and

WHEREAS, the Board has determined that this property merits Landmark designation, protective regulations, and preservation for the enjoyment of future generations;

17.84.010 Title, purpose, and applicability.

The provisions of this chapter shall be known as the S-7 preservation combining zone regulations. The S-7 zone is intended to preserve and enhance the cultural, educational, aesthetic, environmental, and economic value of structures, other physical facilities, sites, and areas of special importance due to historical association, basic architectural merit, the embodiment of a style or special type of construction, or other special character, interest, or value, and is typically appropriate to selected older locations in the city. These regulations shall apply in the S-7 zone, and are supplementary to the provisions of Section 17.102.030 and to the other regulations applying in the zones with which the S-7 zone is combined. (Prior planning code § 6400)

17.84.020 Zones with which the S-7 zone may be combined.

The S-7 zone may be combined with any other zone.

(Prior planning code § 6401)

17.84.030 Design review for construction, alteration, demolition, or removal.

In the S-7 zone no building, Sign, or other facility other than a new Secondary Unit shall be constructed or established, or altered or painted a new color in such a manner as to affect exterior appearance, and no structure or portion thereof shall be demolished or removed, unless such proposal shall have been approved pursuant to the design review procedure in Chapter 17.136 and the applicable provisions of Sections 17.84.040, 17.84.050, and 17.84.060. However, after notice to the Director of City Planning, demolition or removal of a structure or portion thereof shall be permitted without such approval upon a determination by the Inspectional Services Department, the Housing Conservation Division, their respective appeals boards, or the City Council that immediate demolition is necessary to protect the public health or safety, or after expiration of the periods of postponement referred to in Section 17.84.060. Whenever it is proposed that demolition or removal be followed within a reasonable period of time by new construction, review of the new construction shall take place in conjunction with review of the demolition or removal.

(Ord. 12501 § 60, 2003: prior planning code § 6402)

17.84.035 Special residential design review for Secondary Units.

No Secondary Unit shall be constructed or established unless plans for the proposal have been approved pursuant to the special residential design review procedure in Chapter 17.146.

(Ord. 12501 § 61, 2003)

17.84.040 Design review criteria for construction or alteration.

Design review approval for construction, establishment, alteration, or painting of a facility may be granted only upon determination that the proposal conforms to the general design review criteria set forth in the design review procedure in Chapter 17.136 and to both of the following additional design review criteria:

A. That the proposal will not substantially impair the visual, architectural, or historic value of the affected site or facility. Consideration shall be given to design, form, scale, color, materials, texture, lighting, detailing and ornamentation, landscaping, Signs, and any other relevant design element or effect, and, where applicable, the relation of the above to the original design of the affected facility.

B. That the proposed development will not substantially impair the visual, architectural, or historic value of the total setting or character of the surrounding area or of neighboring facilities. Consideration shall be given to integration with, and subordination to, the desired overall character of any such area or grouping of facilities. All design elements or effects specified in subsection A of this section shall be so considered. (Prior planning code § 6403)

17.84.050 Design review criteria for demolition or removal.

Design review approval, pursuant to Section 17.84.030, for demolition or removal of a structure or portion thereof may be granted only upon determination that the proposal conforms to the design review criteria set forth in subsections A and B of this section, or to one or both of the criteria set forth in subsection C of this section:

- A. That the affected structure or portion thereof is not considered irreplaceable in terms of its visual, cultural, or educational value to the area or community;
- B. That the proposed demolition or removal will not substantially impair the visual, architectural, or historic value of the total setting or character of the surrounding area or of neighboring facilities;
- C. If the proposal does not conform to the criteria set forth in subsections A and B of this section:
- 1. That the structure or portion thereof is in such condition that it is not architecturally feasible to preserve or restore it, or
- 2. That, considering the economic feasibility of preserving or restoring the structure or portion thereof, and balancing the interest of the public in such preservation or restoration and the interest of the owner of the property in the utilization thereof, approval is required by considerations of equity. (Prior planning code § 6404)

17.84.060 Postponement of demolition or removal.

If an application for approval of demolition or removal of a structure or portion thereof, pursuant to Sections 17.84.030 and 17.84.050, is denied, the issuance of a permit for demolition or removal shall be deferred for a period of one hundred twenty (120) days, said period to commence upon the initial denial by the reviewing officer or body. However, if demolition or removal of the structure or portion thereof has also been postponed pursuant to Section 17.102.060, the initial period of postponement under this section shall be reduced by the length of the period imposed pursuant to Section 17.102.060. During the period of postponement, the Director of City Planning or the City Planning Commission, with the advice and assistance of the Landmarks Preservation Advisory Board, shall explore all means by which, with the agreement of the owner or through eminent domain, the affected structure or portion thereof may be preserved or restored. The reviewing officer or body from whose decision the denial of the application became final may, after holding a public hearing, extend said period for not more than one hundred twenty (120) additional days; provided, however, that the decision to so extend said period shall be made not earlier than ninety (90) days nor later than thirty (30) days prior to the expiration of the initial one hundred twenty (120) day period. Notice of the hearing shall be given by posting notices thereof within three hundred (300) feet of the property involved. Notice of the hearing shall also be given by mail or delivery to the applicant, to all parties who have commented on the initial application, and to other interested parties as deemed appropriate. All such notices shall be given not less than ten days prior to the date set for the hearing. Such extension shall be made only upon evidence that substantial progress has been made toward securing the preservation or restoration of the structure or portion thereof. In the event that the applicant shall have failed to exhaust all appeals under Sections 17.136.080 and 17.136.090 from the denial of the application, the decision to extend said period shall be appealable under the provisions of Sections 17.136.080 and 17.136.090 to those bodies to whom appeal had not been taken from the initial denial of the application. (Ord. 12237 § 4 (part), 2000: prior planning code § 6405)

17.84.070 Duty to keep in good repair.

Except as otherwise authorized under Sections 17.84.030 and 17.84.050, the owner, lessee, or other person in actual charge of each structure in the S-7 zone shall keep in good repair all of the exterior portions thereof, as well as all interior portions the maintenance of which is necessary to prevent deterioration and decay of any exterior portion. (Prior planning code § 6406)
