Newton Way, Deontae Bush Way, Dorothy King Way, and Too $hort Way; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to Oakland City Council Resolution No. 77967 C.M.S. (passed July 15, 2003), the City Council may, on its motion, consider the renaming of a public street as a tribute to an individual or as a result of a significant event or activity, if one of the following criteria is met: (1) the individual has positively impacted the lives of a nation or the world; or (2) the name change is related to an economic development or redevelopment activity; or (3) The renaming commemorates a significant historical event; and

WHEREAS, the Man of Steal, the Commander of Left Field, Rickey Nelson Henley Henderson, was born on December 25, 1958, in Chicago, Illinois; and

WHEREAS, as an athletically gifted young individual, Rickey Henderson shined in basketball, football, baseball, and track as a student-athlete at Oakland Technical High School. Henderson broke the world stolen base record by stealing his 1,066th base, breaking the record held by Yutaka Fukumoto; ultimately, Henderson would steal 1,406 bases in his career. He was inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame in 2009. WHEREAS, After more than 25 years of playing professional baseball in the major leagues, minor leagues, and independent leagues, Rickey Henderson retired as a player, but still remained involved with the game that he loved, serving as a special instructor and first base coach for the New York Mets and then as a special instructor with the Oakland A’s from 2010 – 2024; and
