Introduction

A. Background

Oakland Unite is a public safety collaboration of community-based organizations, public agencies, and city residents that aims to reduce violence in Oakland, California. Administered by the City of Oakland's Human Services Department (HSD), Oakland Unite provides direct services and funding to community-based organizations to serve people and families at the center of violence. Oakland Unite was initially funded through the Violence Prevention and Public Safety Act of 2004, also known as Measure Y, which raised funds for community-based violence prevention programs and policing and fire safety personnel through a parcel tax on Oakland property and a parking tax assessment. In 2014, city residents voted to extend the levies through Measure Z, the Public Safety and Services Violence Prevention Act (Safety and Services Act).

The Safety and Services Act now raises over $27 million annually and funds violence prevention programs, police officers, fire services, and evaluation services. Almost forty percent of these funds are invested in community-based violence prevention programs through Oakland Unite. These programs tackle the three forms of violence named in the Safety and Services Act: gun violence, family and domestic violence, and commercial sexual exploitation. In the years since Measure Z was passed, Oakland Unite programs have provided support to over 3,000 people each year and reached thousands more through community events.

From January 1, 2016 through June 30, 2019, Oakland Unite efforts were focused around five specific strategies: life coaching, education and economic self-sufficiency, violent incident and crisis response, innovation, and community asset building (Table 1). Overall, from January 1, 2016 through June 30, 2019, 27 agencies were awarded $25,621,600 in total funding, with direct services also provided within HSD. All grantee agencies were required to match at least 20 percent of their Oakland Unite grants.¹ HSD also invested $880,000 in grantee training and technical assistance overseen by HSD.

In preparation for the new funding period, HSD reached out to City residents living at the center of violence to better understand what existing supports were most effective and where supports were falling short. Local and national experts also shared knowledge about effective violence prevention models. Building off this information, as well as years of local experience and evaluation, HSD recommended a revised set of strategies designed to address trauma, support healing, and reduce violence (Table 2). The revised strategies included gender-based violence response, which increased funding for services supporting commercially sexually exploited youth and victims of family violence, as well as a new community healing strategy to support grassroots efforts to reduce violence and heal trauma. In May 2019, the Oakland City Council authorized grants to newly selected agencies in these strategies through fiscal year 2020 (covering July 1, 2019 through June 30, 2020) for a total amount of $9,315,850, with a one-year option to renew through June 30, 2021 pending council approval.

Table 1. Oakland Unite strategy and sub-strategy descriptions and participant enrollment, January 1, 2016 – June 30, 2019

Strategy	Sub-strategy	Number of participants served by calendar year
		2016	2017	2018	January 1, 2019 – June 30, 2019
Life coaching Uses mentoring and coaching to help high-risk youth and young adults move toward stable and successful lives. Coaches work with participants to develop individualized service plans and help connect participants to services.	Adult life coaches ($4,725,900, 5 grantees) work closely with high-risk young adults to deter involvement in violence and in the justice system.	290	334	377	238
	Youth life coaches ($4,605,300, 8 grantees) work closely with high-risk youth to help them engage in school and avoid violence and involvement in the justice system.	312	356	305	201
Education and economic self-sufficiency Helps high-risk youth and young adults secure employment and achieve self-sufficiency through a range of avenues, including developing job-related skills and fostering relationships with employers.	Transition-age youth/young adult employment and education support services ($3,855,600, 5 grantees) agencies work to improve the career prospects of hard-to-employ young adults through skill building and transitional employment.	733	589	413	271
	Youth employment and education support services ($2,391,900, 4 grantees) agencies aim to increase career readiness through academic support and employment experience.	188	253	232	99
Violent incident and crisis response Supports people and communities following violent incidents to mitigate the consequences of violence and decrease the likelihood of future violence and victimization. This strategy encompasses four sub-strategies with different aims.	Street outreach ($3,899,300, 2 grantees) aims to disrupt the cycle of violence by stopping retaliation and using conflict mediation and support services.	286	250	194	145
	The shooting response and homicide support network ($1,874,250, 3 grantees) offers support to shooting and stabbing victims during hospital stays and victims' return home, relocation services for individuals in immediate risk of harm, and support for victims' families and others affected by homicide.	612	793	760	289
	Commercially sexually exploited children ($1,086,200, 3 grantees) intervention reaches out to exploited youth, gets them into safe environments, and provides wraparound supports to end their exploitation.	290	299	234	189
	Family violence intervention ($1,606,500, 1 grantee) supports victims of family violence with legal and socioemotional services as well as crisis response, including emergency housing and a 24-hour hotline.	898	889	781	535
The innovation fund ($714,000, 2 grantees) Supports the development and testing of new ideas and practices for reducing violence. One funded program diverts youth with felony charges out of the juvenile justice systems using restorative justice and the other aims to influence school climate and culture through training and trauma-informed education.		73	114	100	49
Community asset building Aims to change norms about violence through strengthening communities.	Community engagement ^a ($862,600) supports several approaches to strengthening communities, including creating safe spaces for community members in high-crime neighborhoods to convene and interact, providing holiday support for many families, and building the capacity of local leaders.
	Training and technical assistance ^a ($880,000) supports the Oakland Unite grantee network in serving participants effectively through various approaches, including certification opportunities in life coaching and career development, network-wide trainings for grantee staff, peer learning communities, one-on-one agency support, and employment engagement events.

Note: Strategy and sub-strategy funding amounts and grantees cover January 1, 2016 through June 30, 2019.

^a These sub-strategies are administered by the City of Oakland's Human Services Department.

Table 2. Oakland Unite strategy and sub-strategy descriptions for the funding period beginning July 1, 2019

Strategy	Sub-strategy	July 1, 2019 – December 31, 2019 ^a
Gun violence response Aims to support individuals and families at the center of gun violence by intervening in the cycle of gun violence to save lives and support healing. The strategy builds a system of support for people involved in gun violence and helps them resolve conflicts by offering violence interruption/mediation, intensive life coaching, systems advocacy and resources as they move towards positive goals. Central partners in this strategy include Highland Hospital, Oakland Police Department, Probation, Public Defender, District Attorney and state criminal justice agencies.	Adult life coaches ($1,525,850, 5 grantees) work closely with high-risk young adults to deter involvement in violence and in the justice system.	232
	Adult employment and education support services ($900,000, 3 grantees) agencies work to improve the career prospects of hard-to-employ young adults through skill building and transitional employment.	150
	Shooting and homicide response ($1,400,000, 2 grantees) offers support to shooting and stabbing victims during hospital stays and victims' return home; relocation services for individuals in immediate risk of harm; and support for victims' families and others affected by homicide.	317
Youth diversion and reentry Helps high-risk youth and young adults re-engage in school and reduce contact with the justice system through a range of coordinated interventions, including restorative justice practices, life coaching and reentry services, and education and career readiness programs. Central partners in this strategy include Alameda County Probation, Alameda County of Education, Health Care Services Agency, District Attorney and Oakland Unified School District.	Youth diversion and life coaches ($1,315,000, 4 grantees) work closely with high-risk youth to help them engage in school and avoid violence and involvement in the justice system.	158
	Youth career exploration and education support services ($600,000, 2 grantees) agencies aim to strengthen educational outcomes and increase career readiness through academic support and employment experience.	48
Gender-based violence response This strategy directs funding towards interventions that support people experiencing family or domestic violence and commercial sexual exploitation and aims to mitigate the consequences of gender-based violence and decrease the likelihood of future violence and victimization. Central partners in this strategy include the District Attorney and Family Justice Center.	Commercially sexually exploited youth intervention ($750,000, 3 grantees) reaches out to exploited youth, gets them into safe environments, and provides wraparound supports to end their exploitation.	171
	Family violence intervention ($800,000, 2 grantees) supports victims of family violence with legal and socioemotional services as well as crisis response, including emergency housing and a 24-hour hotline.	603
Community healing ($1,725,000, 5 grantees) Alters norms about violence in communities by offering healing-centered activities and supports, as well as by developing the leadership skills of community leaders to direct change in their own neighborhoods and facilitate a grassroots mini-grants program. Priority populations include the neighborhoods in West, Central, and Deep East Oakland that are most affected by multiple forms of violence.	Training and technical assistance^b ($300,000) Supports the Oakland Unite grantee network in serving participants effectively through various approaches, including certification opportunities in life coaching and career development, network-wide trainings for grantee staff, peer learning communities, one-on-one agency support, and employment engagement events.

Note: Strategy and sub-strategy funding amounts and grantees cover July 1, 2019 through June 30, 2020.

^a Participant counts only cover July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019 due to the agency data available at the time of our analysis.

^b This strategy is administered by the City of Oakland's Human Services Department.

B. Overview of Evaluation and Purpose of Report

Under Measure Z, the city funds an independent evaluation of Oakland Unite to inform both the direction of grant making in the future and the field more broadly. The four-year evaluation for the years 2017 to 2020 includes an annual agency-level report, an annual strategy-level report, and a comprehensive evaluation.² This report constitutes the 2020 agency-level report, providing detailed profiles for each Oakland Unite agency and strategy. The profiles presented in the main body of this report summarize participant and service information for the agencies and strategies funded by Oakland Unite from January 1, 2016 to June 30, 2019. Appendix A presents an initial view of the first six months of data collected for the agencies and strategies funded from July 1, 2019 through June 30, 2020. All the information provided in this report is based on administrative data and document reviews. Appendix B describes all data collection and processing.

Data sources and limitations

The data presented in this report are derived from Oakland Unite agencies, the Oakland Police Department (OPD), the Oakland Unified School District (OUSD), the Alameda County Probation Department (ACPD), and the Alameda County Office of Education (ACOE). Each measure is described in detail in the measure definitions section of the report.

For this report, we restricted the analyses to individuals who received any services from January 1, 2016 through December 31, 2019. Of the 10,755 individuals in the Oakland Unite database during the January 1, 2016 through June 30, 2019 funding cycle, 9,994 had services recorded; during the July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019 funding cycle, 1,721 of the 1,787 individuals in the database had services recorded. These individuals form the basis for this report.³

The data sources available for this report provided important information, but also have some limitations. Although we made efforts to clean and validate the data collected in the Oakland Unite database, like any administrative data, its quality depends on the accuracy and completeness of the information entered by agency staff. Individuals who did not consent to share their personal information are excluded from prior arrest, victimization, and school engagement rates because matching participants to OPD, ACPD, or OUSD data requires personally identifiable information.⁴ Consent rates for all strategies and agencies are presented in Appendix B.

In examining participant arrest and victimization histories, we had data only on incidents recorded by OPD or ACPD. Incidents in other jurisdictions may not be recorded in these data sources. For example, arrests conducted by the Oakland School Police and Oakland Housing

² Other parts of Measure Z, such as Ceasefire, crime reduction teams, community resource officers, and emergency response through the Oakland Fire Department, also play important roles in the city's collaborative violence reduction effort but are outside the purview of Oakland Unite and this evaluation.

⁴ School enrollment rates are further restricted to school-age youth 19 or younger; other information about school engagement is based only on participants who were enrolled in OUSD prior to participation in Oakland Unite.

Authority Police were not available. Similarly, information about school engagement was available from only district-operated schools in OUSD and community schools in ACOE. We did not have access to records from charter or private schools in Oakland nor from schools in neighboring school districts, which some Oakland Unite youth may attend. In addition, victimization data had incomplete personally identifiable information more often than did arrest, probation, or education data. It is also important to note that victimization incidents are frequently underreported to police.

Adult Employment and Education Support Services

Agencies funded: 5 Grant total: $3,855,600 Participants served: 1,500 Percentage of budget used for participant support: 34%

The Adult Employment and Education Support Services (EESS) strategy provides job skills training, educational support, and career development services to prepare participants to obtain and retain employment. Agencies within the Adult EESS strategy provide job readiness, transitional employment, and job placement services to transition-aged youth ages 18–24 and adults ages 25 and older. Each Adult EESS agency serves different populations, resulting in broad coverage of the at-risk population in Oakland.

Beyond Emancipation

Participants served: 115

Adult EESS

Grant total: $392,700

Beyond Emancipation (BE) provides intensive employment training and transitional work experience to high-risk young adults in Oakland. Beyond Emancipation aims to serve current or former foster care youth and transition age young adults who are at risk of engaging in violence. Over half of BE's participants are female, and a similar proportion have made police reports in the past about being a victim of violence. The program uses intensive case management with wraparound services to support participants through employment readiness training, individual coaching, and before their placement in transitional and permanent employment sites. Participants have the opportunity to complete a five-week in-house culinary training program and participate in external on-the-job training and internships. BE staff provide "trauma informed coaching" to participants throughout this process to help them to develop and apply life and employment skills.

Participants served: 205

Adult EESS

Grant total: $714,000

Building Opportunities for Self-Sufficiency (BOSS) provides participants with job readiness training, transitional work experience, and employment placement and retention support. BOSS aims to serve adults returning to Oakland after incarceration and/or at risk of engaging in violence. Ninety percent of BOSS participants are African American and the organization serves participants from across multiple Oakland neighborhoods. To support participants through all stages of the program, staff develop individualized employment plans and offer case management with wraparound services, help in identifying and removing barriers to employment, mentoring, and conflict mediation. The program relies on staff who share life experiences similar to those of participants' to build relationships and maintain engagement. Participants have access to varied work opportunities, such as street cleaning, event staging, and pest control.

Center for Employment Opportunities

Participants served: 939

Adult EESS

Grant total: $1,142,400

The Center for Employment Opportunities (CEO) offers intensive employment support services to adults returning to Oakland from incarceration or who are at risk of engaging in violence. CEO participants receive life skills education, transitional work experience, job coaching and placement, and post-placement retention support. CEO serves the largest number of participants among adult EESS agencies and a majority of participants are on parole. The majority of CEO participants are at least 25 years of age, and they come from neighborhoods across Oakland. The central component of CEO's employment model provides crew-based maintenance and labor services. To help participants develop job readiness skills, CEO holds them to the expectations associated with a real job, such as showing up to work daily and on time. CEO supports participants during transitional employment by offering transportation assistance and daily pay. Additionally, CEO provides incentives for job retention after participants obtain non-subsidized employment.

Civcorps

Participants served: 154

Adult EESS

Grant total: $892,500

Civcorps provides personalized academic and employment support to transitional-age youth who are interested in obtaining a high school diploma. Civcorps aims to serve transitional-age youth, 18-26 returning to Oakland after incarceration and/or who are at risk of engaging in violence. Civcorps has an on-site, charter-approved high school, and uses a trauma-informed approach to deliver college preparatory classes and academic counseling before placing participants in transitional work experiences. Paid job training and internship opportunities are available in two social enterprises: environmental management and recycling. The program relies on skilled classroom teachers, case managers, and job supervisors to help participants develop academic and employment skills and obtain and retain a job. The majority of participants are young adults ages 19 to 24.

Oakland Private Industry Council (PIC) uses a combination of case management and clinical counseling to support participants through the process of job readiness and life skills training, transitional employment, and job placement. Oakland PIC aims to serve adults returning to Oakland after incarceration and/or who are at risk of engaging in violence. Over eighty percent of PIC participants are African American males. The program relies on skilled case managers to assess the needs of program participants and develop individualized employment plans. Participants receive on-the-job training through one of three external worksites—Saint Vincent de Paul’s Champion’s Workforce Program, Goodwill Industries, and the Bread Project’s Bakery Bootcamp—where they can learn about warehousing logistics and culinary, janitorial, and security work.

The Youth Employment and Education Support Services (EESS) strategy aims to strengthen the academic success and career readiness of youth at risk of violence. Youth EESS agencies work to achieve this goal through academic support, community service, subsidized work experience, and employment. Staff across agencies report that youth are motivated by financial incentives that reward attendance, program accomplishments, and training certifications. Agency staff report that incentives provide youth with legal sources of income and help keep them engaged in skill-building activities and with case managers. Agencies also find that providing a variety of job opportunities allows youth to find jobs that match their interests.

Youth EESS

Grant total: $660,450

Alameda County Office of Education (ACOE) aims to serve youth involved with the justice system and/or at risk of engaging in violence. Youth are referred to ACOE either by their district or their probation officer primarily for behavior and school safety reasons, as well as for low credits and other academic risk factors. ACOE manages these referrals and works with a subgrantee (Youth Employment Partnership) to provide most program services such as case management, life skills training, and job skills development. ACOE staff also offer tutoring, academic support, and crisis response through a process that brings together teachers, psychologists, case managers, and special education specialists. ACOE serves slightly more male than female participants, predominately from East and Central Oakland neighborhoods.

Bay Area Community Resources, Inc. (BACR) provides school-based education and employment services, including case management, career coaching, employment training, experiential learning/internships, and paid work experience to high-risk youth. BACR serves similar proportions of male and female youth aged 13 to 18. BACR relies on staff who range in age, work, and life experiences to provide a comprehensive support system and help prepare youth for postsecondary education or job placement. Although BACR provides skill-building trainings and career coaching to all participants, other services are tailored to participants' needs. For example, staff may offer case management sessions for youth who are at highest risk and meet off-site with them if they feel unsafe at certain locations or around other participants. This is particularly important because BACR provides services to undocumented youth.

Youth Employment Partnership (YEP) helps youth with multiple barriers to employment develop job readiness skills and connects them to employment opportunities during the summer and after school. YEP aims to serve youth involved with the justice system and/or at risk of engaging in violence. The program serves the largest number of participants of the youth EESS agencies. YEP provides a range of on-the-job vocational training opportunities in high-demand fields like construction and warehouse logistics. Weekly job readiness trainings cover topics such as financial literacy, communication, and conflict management. The program relies on case managers' relationships with participants to identify their needs and interests and connect them to individualized services, such as accelerated credit recovery for youth who are court-involved and have fallen behind in school, or GED instruction for those who have dropped out.

Adult Life Coaching

Agencies funded: 5 Grant total: $4,551,900 Participants served: 751 Percentage of budget used for participant support: 19%

The adult life coaching strategy aims to redirect young adults from violence and toward making positive changes in their lives. Adult life coaching agencies aim to serve individuals at high risk of violence using coaching and mentoring approaches, to help participants navigate social systems, build advocacy skills, and connect with resources to meet their basic needs. The life coaching model includes five primary program standards of practice: establishing a trusting relationship, developing participant-centered goals, keeping participants safe and well, supporting sustainable change for participants, and building a professional practice for life coaches. Life coaches offer financial stipends to participants tied to the completion of milestones that participants define for themselves. Agencies use the Oakland Unite network to address participants' needs, and life coaches actively refer participants to support services such as education, employment, mental health, substance abuse, and housing (provided by Abode).

Abode Services (Abode) assists individuals experiencing homelessness by providing housing-related case management services to help them obtain and maintain housing. Abode is unique among the life coaching grantees in its focus on comprehensive housing support services in addition to life case management. To provide these services, Abode partners with Oakland Unite, HSD’s Community Housing Services, and the Oakland Housing Authority. The program aims to serve adults involved with the justice system or who are at high risk of engaging in violence and are chronically homeless or at risk of homelessness. The vast majority of Abode participants are male and African American, from Central and East Oakland. In addition to providing housing placement assistance, Abode supports participants in securing income through employment and/or public assistance, reducing their exposure to violence, obtaining medical and mental health support, and accessing educational, peer support, and leadership development opportunities upon release from incarceration.

Community & Youth Outreach (CYO) provides life coaching services to young adults with the ultimate goal of helping them lead stable, nonviolent lives. CYO aims to serve adults involved with the justice system who are at high risk of engaging in violence. The program serves the largest number of adult life coaching participants, of whom almost 90 percent are male and 80 percent are African American. Life coaches, most of whom share backgrounds and experiences similar to those of participants, aim to build close relationships with participants, coordinate wraparound services, and advocate for participants to help them develop and reach their goals. Among other supports, CYO participants have access to career trade training at Laney College and cognitive behavioral treatment groups. CYO life coaches also work closely with street outreach and violence interrupters to exchange information about violence dynamics in the community, helping to keep both participants and staff safe.

In addition to overseeing Oakland Unite, the City of Oakland's Human Services Department (HSD) employs life coaches who work directly with adults at highest risk of violence. HSD life coaches aim to work with adults involved with the justice system who are at high risk of engaging in violence to redirect them away from violence and toward making positive changes in their lives. Nearly all participants are male, and almost three-quarters of participants are African American and over one-quarter are Hispanic. HSD life coaches follow the Oakland Unite model of life coaching, which is based on building close relationships through coaching and mentoring, supporting participants through systems navigation and advocacy, and making referrals to needed services and resources. HSD life coaches work in partnership with the Ceasefire program and street outreach agencies to identify high-risk participants and will also refer participants to other Oakland Unite agencies based on their needs.

Roots Community Health Center (Roots) supports residents of East Oakland through a suite of community services and education, training, and employment support. Roots community services include health care, mental health support, rehabilitation, and legal aid. Roots aims to serve adults involved with the justice system who are at high risk of engaging in violence. Over 90 percent of Roots participants are male, and over 70 percent live in East Oakland. In working with individuals at high risk of violence, Roots life coaches build close relationships through coaching and mentoring, provide systems navigation and advocacy, and make referrals to needed services and resources. Because of the array of supports offered by Roots, life coaches often refer participants to other services within the agency, such as mental health support. Furthermore, Roots' mental health services are well known throughout Oakland Unite and the agency receives referrals from other Oakland Unite agencies. One-third of Roots participants are referred to the program through family members or friends.

Youth Life Coaching

Grant total: $553,350

Motivating, Inspiring, Supporting & Serving Sexually Exploited Youth (MISSEY) aims to support sexually exploited youth through ongoing individual life coaching and case management. Almost all of MISSEY participants identify as female and almost two-thirds are African American. MISSEY life coaches provide trauma-informed support and mentoring and connect youth to wraparound services to help them meet their individualized goals, which tend to include safety planning, linkage to safe housing, and an educational plan. Youth can also spend time in MISSEY's drop-in center, which provides a safe space for youth to hang out in, in the afternoon hours, and offers group activities and events that help build community.

Youth Life Coaching

Grant total: $714,000

Oakland Unified School District (OUSD) Alternative Education in partnership with sub-grantee CYO supports youth who live and/or attend school in Oakland with their transition back to school. Youth are referred by the Alameda County Juvenile Justice Transition Center (JJTC) and are connected to life coaches based on their individual characteristics including race, sex, and language spoken, group associations, and geographic location. Staff work to place youth into an OUSD or Alameda County Office of Education alternative school. Once placed, youth receive ongoing mentoring, crisis intervention, and referrals to wraparound services. Over 80 percent of participants are male and 70 percent are African American.

Youth Life Coaching

Grant total: $357,000

The Mentoring Center (TMC) offers life coaching services to youth at high risk of engaging in violence. TMC provides case management and mentoring, which includes developing life maps with youth, facilitating pro-social learning groups, and connecting youth to work experience and employment training. The vast majority of TMC youth life coaching participants are male and African American. TMC's life coaching model draws on its mentoring curriculum, which is designed to encourage character development, cognitive restructuring, and spiritual development and includes life skills, employment, and anger management training. Staff also offer case management and help connect participants to educational assistance, job placement, and referrals for substance abuse counseling and mental health therapy. Beyond individual case management and mentoring, participants receive group-based mentoring.

Youth Life Coaching

Grant total: $642,600

Youth ALIVE! aims to serve youth at high risk of engaging in violence by connecting them with life coaches who provide mentorship, connect youth to wraparound services, and support youth in meeting their goals. Youth ALIVE! provides intensive life coaching services, with a focus on school placement, probation discharge, and brokering of local support services, as well as group and individual mental health support services. Staff also assess participants' need for substance abuse and mental health counseling and offer clinically supported, gender-specific support groups and links to ongoing mental health services both in-house and through outside referrals. Life coaches are generally men and women who grew up in the communities they serve, including former victims of violence and members of gangs. Nearly 80 percent of Youth ALIVE! participants are African American and over half live in East Oakland.

Commercially Sexually Exploited Children Intervention

Agencies funded: 3

Grant total: $1,086,210

Participants served: 683

The Commercially Sexually Exploited Children (CSEC) intervention strategy supports agencies to conduct outreach to youth and provide them with emergency shelter and crisis stabilization services with links to long-term support. CSEC agencies offer distinct types of services to provide a comprehensive system of support for youth, including connections with caring adults, wraparound support, and access to transitional or emergency housing, to promote healing and prevent future victimization. CSEC agencies also provide trainings for law enforcement and other community partners to increase awareness of CSEC issues and interventions. To build a sense of community, CSEC agencies provide opportunities for group services and interactions among peers, and safe spaces for youth such as drop-in centers.

CSEC Intervention

Grant total: $260,600

The Bay Area Women Against Rape (BAWAR) Sexually Exploited Minors program offers crisis response services to youth who have been sexually exploited or are at risk of commercial sexual exploitation. BAWAR participants predominately identify as female and come from diverse racial and ethnic backgrounds. BAWAR staff conduct outreach in coordination with multiple community partners, including the Oakland Police Department's CSEC Special Operations Unit, the Alameda County District Attorney's Office, The Family Justice Center, Highland Hospital, and the Oakland Unified School District. BAWAR also conducts community trainings and outreach events for local agencies and schools to increase awareness of sexual assault and exploitation. Following outreach, staff provide first responder crisis intervention and stabilization services. Immediate crisis interventions typically last 24 hours, but staff continue to work with youth until they are in a stable situation. Frontline staff, called Sexually Exploited Minor Advocates, also connect youth to local resources.

DreamCatcher Youth Services (DreamCatcher), a program run by Covenant House California, serves homeless youth in Oakland who are at high risk of commercial sexual exploitation, providing them with emergency shelter, crisis intervention, and stabilization support. DreamCatcher has a youth homeless shelter with 16 beds, where youth can stay and work individually with case managers who connect them with other programs. Case managers work with youth staying at the shelter or using the drop-in center to develop a plan for securing stable housing and other resources to achieve personal goals. DreamCatcher also offers mental health services and group activities. The agency has a drop-in center where youth can hang out in a safe place, eat a free dinner, and access free hygiene products, basic clothing, and school supplies. The drop-in center also houses a medical clinic and a therapist. Close to two-thirds of participants identified as female, and close to half are African American.

Family Violence Intervention

Grant total: $1,606,500

The Family Violence Law Center (FVLC) supports individuals experiencing domestic violence and sexual assault through legal services, case management, and support services such as housing and therapy. FVLC aims to support individuals experiencing or at risk of domestic violence and sexual assault in Alameda County. The vast majority of FVLC participants are women, 25 years or older, and people of color. Safety is the primary concern in the short term; once safety is addressed, case managers use an empowerment model that lets participants define their own goals and successes and work toward longer-term safety and stability. The length of participant contact with FVLC varies based on participants' needs. For some, it takes 24 hours to get to a stable situation, for others with short legal cases, it can be three to six months, and for those with more complex legal cases, it can be a year or more.

Participants can be referred from an in-house 24-hour hotline, OPD, other Oakland Unite agencies, and/or walk-in clinics. FVLC provides legal aid and also offers case management, assistance finding shelter and meeting immediate safety needs, and mental health services. FVLC provides family therapy and children under the age of 5 often attend with a parent.

FVLC holds community trainings and outreach events, including trainings for OPD police officers on how to interact with and support victims of family violence.

Homicide Support and Shooting Response

Agencies

Grant total:

$1,874,250

Participants served:

1,838

The Homicide Support and Shooting Response strategy funds agencies supporting two groups affected by gun violence: those who have been the victim of gun violence or serious assault and those who have lost a loved one to gun violence. Agencies funded through this strategy aim to address the immediate basic and social-emotional needs of shooting victims and their families, provide longer-term supports as they recover from injury or loss, and prevent retaliatory violence. The strategy also supports temporary emergency relocation to ensure safety for individuals and families in immediate danger of violence.

COORDINATION AND COMMUNICATION AMONG CRISIS RESPONSE SUB-STRATEGIES

Homicide support, shooting response, and street outreach agencies work together through Oakland Unite to respond to and prevent violent incidents in Oakland and support those affected by them. Oakland Unite convenes and coordinates network providers and serves as the liaison between the network and law enforcement. Agencies maintain communication to share information and receive information from HSD about violent incidents and threats of retaliation through multiple channels, including weekly coordination meetings organized by HSD.

Notification

A one-way flow of information from the Oakland Police Department to the City of Oakland Human Services Department (HSD) allows HSD to provide agencies with relevant details about violent incidents, including priority assessment for retaliation.

Shooting Response

Agencies such as Youth ALIVE!, Caught in the Crossfire, and Violence Interrupters provide support to victims at Highland Hospital following a shooting. Community & Youth Outreach provides emergency temporary relocation to individuals at immediate risk of lethal gun violence.

Homicide Support

Agencies such as the Youth ALIVE! Khadafy Washington Project and Catholic Charities of the East Bay provide support to families of homicide victims including funeral planning, linkage to Victims of Crime Assistance, grief counseling and healing circles.

Street Outreach

Street Outreach workers from Community & Youth Outreach and Building Opportunities for Self-Sufficiency canvass and walk 'hot spot' areas, organize community events, and make referrals for support services. Youth ALIVE! violence interrupters conduct hospital bedside visits and safety assessments, and provide conflict mediation to prevent retaliation.

Grant total: $446,250

The Caught in the Crossfire program at Youth ALIVE! provides intensive outreach and case management to individuals in Oakland who have been treated for violent injuries at Highland Hospital, Children's Hospital, and Eden Medical Center. Intervention specialists engage victims of gun violence and establish a connection and trusting relationship with them, provide emotional support, and address any immediate needs, such as relocation. In the hospital, staff review the incident with the participant, assess the risk of retaliation, and develop a plan to stay safe following discharge. Staff follow up with clients after they have been discharged from the hospital to provide further support, and work in tandem with Youth ALIVE! violence interrupters and participants' families and associates to prevent retaliatory violence. Over three-quarters of participants are male, and over two-thirds are African American.

The street outreach strategy aims to reduce retaliatory violence by helping high-risk youth and young adults mediate conflict. Street outreach approaches are designed to interrupt violence before it happens or to prevent incidents of retaliation following a violent event. Street-based outreach workers and violence interrupters aim to create meaningful relationships with community members. Community outreach workers maintain a consistent presence in communities with the highest violent crime rates in order to send a message of nonviolence and build relationships with youth and young adults and their families. Violence interrupters help mediate hostile situations, including by being present at the hospital directly following a violent crime.

Grant total: $1,079,000

Building Opportunities for Self-Sufficiency (BOSS) provides conflict mediation and outreach services to high-risk youth and adults in West Oakland. BOSS street outreach staff conduct general outreach activities, such as night walks every weekend around target areas and intensive outreach with individuals at greatest risk of engaging in violence. In addition, street outreach staff collaborate with the West Oakland violence interrupters at Youth ALIVE! (a subgrantee to BOSS) to share knowledge of violent incidents in the area and coordinate an approach to new mediations. Both agencies rely on skilled outreach workers who have connections to and understand the community they serve. Over 90 percent of participants are African American, and almost 60 percent are from West Oakland, though over a third of participants come from East or Central Oakland.

Street Outreach

Grant total: $2,820,300

Youth ALIVE!, in partnership with subgrantee CYO, works to reduce street and retaliatory violence by interrupting and mediating conflicts. Youth ALIVE! offers intensive outreach to high-risk participants in target areas in Central and East Oakland, and conducting general outreach in high-crime areas. Youth ALIVE! violence interrupters mediate between hostile groups to negotiate truces and are on call to address immediate safety issues in their communities. CYO street outreach workers conduct general outreach activities, such as night walks every weekend around target areas, and intensive outreach with individuals at greatest risk of engaging in violence. Staff from the two agencies share knowledge of violent incidents in the area and coordinate an approach to new mediations. Over 70 percent of participants come from Central and East Oakland, and over 70 percent are African American.

Innovation Fund

Agencies funded: 2 Grant total: $714,000 Participants served: 242

The Innovation Fund provides seed funding to encourage and support the development of new and promising violence prevention programs or practices that are outside of the scope of the other Oakland Unite strategies. The Innovation Fund supports two agencies offering very different types of services and program models:

1. Community Works West offers pretrial diversion services to youth referred directly from law enforcement, providing them with outreach and case management as part of a restorative justice diversion model.
2. Seneca Family of Agencies supports school-wide adoption of a trauma-informed education model in two Oakland schools. Staff provide mental health services to students but also support school staff and parents more broadly.

Staff from both of these agencies demonstrate an understanding of complex traumatic events that may influence youth behavior, and work to integrate diverse stakeholders into the process. Agency staff work through challenging events alongside youth and their families using goal-oriented frameworks that draw on principles like restorative justice and social-emotional learning.

Community Works West

Participants served: 96

Innovation Fund

Grant total: $357,000

Community Works West (CWW) provides pretrial diversion services to youth who have been arrested and are in danger of being charged with a high-level misdemeanor or low-level felony offense. Following an arrest, youth are referred by the arresting officer or the Alameda County District Attorney's office to CWW, where they receive restorative justice services rather than going through the juvenile justice system. Restorative justice services include one-on-one case management that supports youth in developing and completing a restorative plan, which is agreed to during a community case conference with the victim. The program's goal is to help young people be accountable for crimes and develop empathy for those impacted. The program also aims to help the victims engage in a dialogue around healing. Over three-quarters of participants are male, and over two-thirds are African American.

Seneca Family of Agencies

Participants served: 146

Innovation Fund

Grant total: $357,000

Seneca Family of Agencies supports school-wide adoption of a trauma-informed education model at two OUSD schools in East Oakland where a high share of children are exposed to trauma—Horace Mann Elementary School and Elmhurst Community Prep (a middle school). The Seneca service team is integrated into the school community to provide support to students and families and train school staff on how to identify and address trauma. Children in need of additional support are referred to a school coordination of services team that develops a plan to help address students' needs. Depending on their level of trauma, children receive individual therapy or participate in therapeutic support groups run by Seneca. Those receiving services are predominantly children under the age of 12, who come from Central and East Oakland.

Community Asset Building

Agencies funded: 3

Grant total: $1,742,650

The community asset building strategy has the broad aim of changing norms about violence through strengthening communities. Within the strategy are two sub-strategies with diverse goals: community engagement and training and technical assistance. Both are led by the City of Oakland's Human Services Department (HSD) in collaboration with other partners.

The community engagement sub-strategy supports several approaches to strengthening communities, including creating safe spaces for community members in high-crime neighborhoods to convene and interact, providing holiday support for many families, and building the capacity of local leaders. Community engagement is detailed further in a following profile.

The training and technical assistance sub-strategy supports the Oakland Unite grantee network in serving participants effectively through various approaches, including certification opportunities in life coaching and career development, network-wide trainings for grantee staff, peer learning communities, one-on-one agency support, and employment engagement events. Training and technical assistance is detailed further in a following profile.

Community Engagement

Grant total: $862,650

The community engagement sub-strategy supports the coordination of events and capacity building efforts to boost community engagement, develop leadership skills, and create safe spaces within high-crime neighborhoods in East and West Oakland. The sub-strategy is led by the City of Oakland’s Human Services Department (HSD) in collaboration with other partners, including Oakland Parks, Recreation & Youth Development; Alameda County Public Health Department; and faith-based community organizations.

FRIDAY SUMMER NIGHTS

Friday Summer Nights offers weekly community events during the summer featuring free food, games, and entertainment to encourage community members to reclaim public spaces that have been considered unsafe and for reducing crime. Events are held on six consecutive Friday nights from 6 to 9 pm, July through August. The program, which has operated since 2011, is also known as Peace at the Park in East Oakland and Friday Night Live in West Oakland.

HSD employs a group of youth, referred to as the “Youth Squad,” to coordinate these events for ten-weeks each summer. Two part-time staff are also employed to train and supervise the Youth Squad. Youth Squad members participate in weekly workshops on topics such as leadership development, community building, and violence prevention. Youth Squad Leaders are referred through life coaching and street outreach agencies or community outreach.

HOLIDAY SUPPORT

The community engagement sub-strategy provides support to families during the holiday season. With the help of faith-based partners, families of life coaching participants with the greatest need receive turkey dinners and food baskets for Thanksgiving and presents for the Christmas holiday. In addition, community engagement staff help distribute toys donated through the annual Mayor’s Toy Drive to families in Oakland.

CITY-COUNTY NEIGHBORHOOD INITIATIVE

The goal of the City-County Neighborhood Initiative is to provide community leaders with the skills to promote change in their communities. Community leaders in the neighborhoods of Sobrante Park and Hoover Foster identify relevant issues they want to address and receive training from three community capacity builders, two of which are funded through Oakland Unite. The initiative also participates in community activities and events such as MLK Day of Service, Juneteenth Celebration, and Health Fair. The program is a partnership between Oakland Unite and Alameda County Public Health Department, which provides staffing and funding for leadership development.

Training and Technical Assistance

Grant total: $880,000

The training and technical assistance sub-strategy. To facilitate collaboration, Oakland Unite regularly convenes network wide trainings for agencies to share information on best practices, discuss referrals, and troubleshoot challenges. Since 2016, Oakland Unite has also funded a multicomponent grantee training and technical assistance program coordinated by contractors that are competitively selected (Bright Research Group and Pathways Consultants). Training and technical assistance include the following:

CERTIFICATION OPPORTUNITIES IN LIFE COACHING AND CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The life coaching certification fellowship is a nine-month program for Oakland Unite grantees.

NETWORK-WIDE TRAININGS FOR GRANTEE STAFF

Available to staff in all Oakland Unite grantee agencies, trainings aim to increase access to information and skill development in areas of need. Training topics have included street outreach and conflict mediation, harm reduction for service providers and program managers, management practices for self-care, surviving compassion fatigue, and motivational interviewing.

PEER LEARNING COMMUNITIES

Oakland Unite supports several opportunities for grantees throughout the network to learn from one another. Fellows selected for the supervision learning community and motivational interviewing learning communities deepen their application, skills, and confidence using supervision and motivational interviewing approaches. Participants receive training, coaching, skill-based application, and feedback from an expert instructor.

ONE-ON-ONE AGENCY SUPPORT

Oakland Unite technical assistance contractors provide individualized support primarily focused on organizational development and job development, as needed, to Oakland Unite grantees. Topics have included budget and financial review, organizational chart and model review, communication and development of board members, and employer engagement and recruitment.

EMPLOYER ENGAGEMENT EVENTS

These events bring sector-specific employers together with employment-focused grantees for business tours, and other events aimed to facilitate relationship building between employers and grantee staff and sharing of information about workforce opportunities. In addition, job huddles allow Oakland Unite EESS grantees to learn more about specific sectors and their pathways.

Profile Measure Definitions

Strategy and agency level measures

- Agencies funded – The number of agencies funded through Oakland Unite during the specified grant cycle. (Source: City of Oakland Human Services Department)
- Grant total – The total amount of grant funding from Oakland Unite for the specified grant cycle. (Source: City of Oakland Human Services Department)
- Participants served – The total number of participants served by an Oakland Unite funded agency, during the specified period (see profile or table footnotes). (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Percentage of budget used for participant support – For agencies that dedicate a significant part of their grant budgets to wages, financial support, or incentives for participants, we show the percentage of the agency’s budget used for participant payments based on the agency’s budget for the specified grant cycle. Agencies are not typically allowed to shift funds from these line items, though a small number of agencies had unspent funds during the period. Agencies are required to secure a 20 percent match to Oakland Unite funds, and many match a larger percentage and apply those funds to financial transfers to participants. (Source: City of Oakland Human Services Department)

Participant characteristics and risk factors

- Age – Participant age is recorded by agencies as of first date of service. Age categories are: children age 0 to 12, youth age 13 to 18, adults age 19 to 24, and adults age 25 or older. Observations without birth date information are coded as age unknown. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Consent rate – Data points that rely on linking Oakland Unite agency data to other administrative databases are based only on participants who consented to share their personally identifying information for the purposes of the evaluation. Each agency’s consent rate appears at the bottom of their profile’s first page. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Gender – The percent of participants identifying as female, male, or other (includes transgender participants and participants with gender listed as “other”). Participants with no gender recorded are marked as gender unknown. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Race and ethnicity – The percent of participants identifying as African American, Hispanic, or other race/ethnicity. Other includes Asian, White, Pacific Islander, Alaskan Native, and American Indian. If no race or ethnicity is recorded, participant race and ethnicity is marked as unknown. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Oakland neighborhood – Using home zip codes, we grouped participants into regions of Oakland. Home ZIP codes falling outside of Oakland city limits were classified as other. If participant ZIP code data was not reported, we show the region as unknown. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)

- Arrested before receiving services – The percentage of consenting participants who were arrested prior to enrollment in Oakland Unite services. This measure combines information on arrests from the Oakland Police Department, which includes arrests that occurred within the City of Oakland since 2006, and the Alameda County Probation Department, which includes arrests that occurred in Alameda County (including the City of Oakland), since 2010. The ACPD data includes information on arrests for juveniles, but only includes conviction information for adults. Therefore, the measure will slightly undercount the percentage of adults arrested prior receiving services. (Source: Oakland Police Department, Alameda County Probation Department data)
- Average GPA in the school year before receiving services – The average grade point average (GPA) for consenting participants who were enrolled in the Oakland Unified School District or Alameda County Office of Education in the school year prior to enrollment in Oakland Unite services. Only youth in middle and high school have recorded GPAs. (Source: Oakland Unified School District, Alameda County Office of Education)
- Chronically absent from school in the 12 months before receiving services – The percent of consenting participants who were enrolled in the Oakland Unified School District or Alameda County Office of Education in the 12 months prior to enrollment in Oakland Unite services that were chronically absent from school, defined as missing 10 percent or more of school days during that period. (Source: Oakland Unified School District, Alameda County Office of Education)
- Family or friend of homicide victim – The percentage of participants who reported being a family or friend of a homicide victim. This information is collected during intake by Oakland Unite agency staff. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Had peer/family shot or seriously injured before receiving services – The percentage of participants who reported having a peer or family member shot or seriously injured by gun violence. This information is collected during intake by Oakland Unite agency staff. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Percentage of school-aged youth enrolled in school before receiving services – The percentage of consenting participants who were enrolled in the Oakland Unified School District or Alameda County Office of Education in the 12 months prior to enrollment in Oakland Unite services. (Source: Oakland Unified School District, Alameda County Office of Education)
- On probation supervision before receiving services – The percentage of consenting participants who were on formal probation supervision since 2010, prior to enrolling in Oakland Unite. The data include both juvenile and adult probation records. (Source: Alameda County Probation Department)
- Suspended from school before receiving services – The percentage of participants who were enrolled in the Oakland Unified School District or Alameda County Office of Education in the 12 months prior to enrollment in Oakland Unite services and who were suspended from school during that period. (Source: Oakland Unified School District, Alameda County Office of Education)

- Reported being a victim of violent crime to OPD before receiving services – The percentage of consenting participants who reported being the victim of a violent crime or assault since 2006, prior to enrolling in Oakland Unite. Violent incidents include homicide, rape, robbery, assault, offenses against the family and children, prostitution, or sex offenses. (Source: Oakland Police Department)
- Victim of violent injury (agency reported) – The percentage of participants who were a victim of a violent injury. This information is collected during intake by Oakland Unite agency staff. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)

Program characteristics and milestones

- Job placement – The percentage of participants placed in a job following participation in program activities such as paid transitional employment/work experience. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Job retention (30-day) – The percentage of participants who reported being placed in a job following participation in program activities such as paid transitional employment/work experience and retaining the job for at least 30 days. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Job retention (90-day) – The percentage of participants who reported being placed in a job following participation in program activities such as paid transitional employment/work experience and retaining the job for at least 90 days. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Job retention (180-day) – The percentage of participants who reported being placed in a job following participation in program activities such as paid transitional employment/work experience and retaining the job for at least 180 days. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Percentage of participants touched by the Ceasefire message – The percentage of consenting participants appearing in Ceasefire records; this percentage is independent of Ceasefire referrals, which are entered by agencies. (Source: Oakland Unite agency and Ceasefire data)
- Reenrolled in school – The percentage of school-aged youth who reported reenrolling in school following participation in Oakland Unite. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Referral sources – Referral sources, as entered by agencies. When not specified, “other” referral sources may include any of the following: justice system, another OU agency, self/walk-in, school, family/friend, hospital, police, outreach, social services, Ceasefire, or other/unknown source. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Referred to mental health and other long-term support services – The percentage of participants referred by the Oakland Unite agency to mental health or other long-term support services. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Total community events – The number of community events provided by an Oakland Unite agency. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)

- Total community training events – The number of community training events provided by Seneca Family of Agencies. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Total conflict mediations – The number of total conflict mediations provided by an Oakland Unite agency. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Total social and community events – The number of social and community events provided by an Oakland Unite agency. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Total street outreach walks and events – The number of street outreach walks and events provided by an Oakland Unite agency. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Work experience – percent of all participants – The percentage of all participants with at least one hour of work experience. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Work experience – average hour of work experience – The average number of hours of work experience for all participants with at least one hour of work experience. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Work placement – percent of all participants – The percentage of all participants with any work placement. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)

Average service hours

Average service hours represent the total number of hours each participant received for a given agency or strategy. Average service hours are shown for the following types of services:

- Basic education training hours – The average number of hours per participant of basic education training provided by Civicorps. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Case consultation hours – The average number of hours per participant of case consultation provided by Family Violence Law Center. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Case management hours – The average number of hours per participant of case management services provided by an agency. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Group mental health service hours – The average number of mental health service hours per participant provided in a group setting. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Group work experience hours – The average number of work experience hours per participant provided in a group setting. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Housing service hours – The average number of housing service hours per participant provided by Family Violence Law Center. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Individual mental health service hours – The average number of individual mental health service hours per participant provided by an Oakland Unite agency. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)
- Individual work experience hours – The average number of individual work experience hours per participant provided by an Oakland Unite agency. Agencies vary in how they report work experience – some record hours as “individual” while others report “group” hours based on program design. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)

- Intensive care service hours – The average number of intensive care service hours per participant provided by Family Violence Law Center. (Source: Oakland Unite agency data)

Adult Life Coaching

Agencies funded: 5 Grant total: $1,525,850 Participants served: 232 Percentage of budget used for participant support: 26%

The adult life coaching strategy aims to redirect young adults from violence and toward making positive changes in their lives. Adult life coaching agencies aim to serve individuals at high risk of violence using coaching and mentoring approaches, to help participants navigate social systems, build advocacy skills, and connect with resources to meet their basic needs. The life coaching model includes five primary program standards of practice: establishing a trusting relationship, developing participant-centered goals, keeping participants safe and well, supporting sustainable change for participants, and building a professional practice for life coaches. Life coaches offer financial stipends to participants tied to the completion of milestones that participants define for themselves. Life coaches conduct learning trips to expose participants to new experiences. Agencies use the Oakland Unite network to address participants' needs, and life coaches actively refer participants to support services such as education, employment, mental health, substance abuse, and housing (provided by Abode). Life coaching agencies also partner with Root and Rebound to connect life coaching participants to legal assistance.

Adult life coaching grantees

The Mentoring Center (TMC) provides life coaching services to adults involved with the justice system who are at high risk of engaging in violence. TMC's life coaching model draws on its mentoring curriculum, which is designed to encourage character development, cognitive restructuring, and spiritual development, and includes life skills, employment, and anger management training. TMC staff also offer case management and help connect participants to educational assistance, job placement, and referrals for substance abuse counseling and mental health therapy. Participants also have access to group mentoring beyond the individual case management and mentoring curriculum. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, nearly all participants were male and over 70 percent were young adults ages 19 to 24.

Community & Youth Outreach (CYO) provides life coaching services to young adults with the ultimate goal of helping them lead stable, nonviolent lives. CYO aims to serve adults involved with the justice system who are at high risk of engaging in violence. Life coaches, most of whom share backgrounds and experiences similar to those of participants, aim to build close relationships with participants, coordinate wrap-around services, and advocate for participants to help them develop and reach their goals. Among other supports, CYO participants have access to career trade training at Laney College and cognitive behavioral treatment groups. CYO life coaches also work closely with street outreach and violence interrupters to exchange information about violence dynamics in the community, helping to keep both participants and staff safe. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, over 80 percent of CYO participants were male, 75 percent were African American, and over 90 percent were aged 19 or older.

Roots Community Health Center (Roots) supports residents of East Oakland through a suite of community services and education, training, and employment support. Roots community services include health care, mental health support, rehabilitation, and legal aid. Roots aims to serve adults involved with the justice system who are at high risk of engaging in violence. In working with individuals at high risk of violence, Roots life coaches build close relationships through coaching and mentoring, provide systems navigation and advocacy, and make referrals to needed services and resources. Because of the array of supports offered by Roots, life coaches often refer participants to other services within the agency, such as mental health support. Furthermore, Roots' mental health services are well known throughout Oakland Unite and the agency receives referrals from other Oakland Unite agencies. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, over 70 percent of participants were male, nearly all were African American, and over 80 percent were 19 or older.

Abode Services (Abode) assists individuals experiencing homelessness by providing housing-related case management services to help them obtain and maintain housing. Abode is unique among the life coaching grantees in its focus on comprehensive housing support services in addition to case management services. To provide these services, Abode partners with Oakland Unite, HSD's Community Housing Services, and the Oakland Housing Authority. The program aims to serve adults involved with the justice system and those who are at high risk of engaging in violence and are chronically homeless or at risk of homelessness. The vast majority of Abode participants were male and African American during the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019. In addition to providing housing placement assistance, Abode supports participants in securing income through employment and/or public assistance, reducing their exposure to violence, obtaining medical and mental health support, and accessing educational, peer support, and leadership development opportunities upon release from incarceration.

In addition to overseeing Oakland Unite, the City of Oakland’s Human Services Department (HSD) employs life coaches who work directly with adults at highest risk of violence. HSD life coaches aim to work with adults involved with the justice system who are at high risk of engaging in violence to redirect them away from violence and toward making positive changes in their lives. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, nearly three-quarters of participants were African American, 20 percent were Hispanic, and all were male. Life coaches follow the Oakland Unite model of life coaching, which is based on building close relationships through coaching and mentoring, supporting participants through systems navigation and advocacy, and making referrals to needed services and resources. HSD life coaches work in partnership with the Ceasefire program and violence interrupters to identify high-risk participants and will also refer participants to other Oakland Unite agencies based on their needs.

Adult Employment and Education Support Services

Agencies funded: 3 Grant total: $900,000 Participants served: 150 Percentage of budget used for participant support: 23%

The Adult Employment and Education Support Services (EESS) strategy provides job skills training, educational support, and career development services to prepare participants to obtain and retain employment. Agencies within the Adult EESS strategy provide job readiness, transitional employment, and job placement services to transition-aged youth ages 18–24 and adults ages 25 and older. Each Adult EESS agency serves different populations, resulting in broad coverage of the at-risk population in Oakland.

Adult employment and education support services grantees

Center for Employment Opportunities (CEO) offers intensive employment support services to adults returning to Oakland from incarceration or who are at risk of engaging in violence. CEO participants receive life skills education, transitional work experience, job coaching and placement, and post-placement retention support. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, over 80 percent of CEO participants were male, and over 70 percent were African American. The central component of CEO's employment model is a crew-based maintenance and labor services. To help participants develop job readiness skills, CEO holds them to the expectations associated with a real job, such as showing up to work daily and on time. CEO supports participants during transitional employment by offering transportation assistance and daily pay. Additionally, CEO provides incentives for job retention after participants obtain non-subsidized employment.

Oakland Private Industry Council, Inc. (PIC) uses a combination of case management and clinical counseling to support participants through the process of job readiness and life skills training, transitional employment, and job placement. Oakland PIC aims to serve adults returning to Oakland after incarceration and/or who are at risk of engaging in violence. The program relies on skilled case managers to assess the needs of program participants and develop individualized employment plans. Participants receive on-the-job training through one of three external worksites—Saint Vincent de Paul's Champion's Workforce Program, Goodwill Industries, and the Bread Project's Bakery Bootcamp—where they can learn about warehousing logistics and culinary, janitorial, and security work. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, over 90 percent of participants were male, and nearly 80 percent were African American.

Youth Employment Partnership, Inc. (YEP) aims to improve career prospects and life outcomes for Oakland adults who are at the highest risk of engaging in, or becoming victims of, violence. In partnership with Cypress Mandela Training Center and West Oakland Job Resource Center, YEP serves reentry/systems-involved and Oakland Unite-referred young adults, aged 18-35, from West Oakland, Central Oakland/Fruitvale, and East Oakland. YEP and partners provide comprehensive pre-employment training, vocational skill building in warehousing and logistics, construction trade pre-apprenticeship, and internships (240+ hours), along with individualized education support (100+ hours) and ongoing case management support. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, YEP participants were predominantly African American and over 60 percent were young adults ages 19 to 24.

Shooting and Homicide Response

Agencies funded: 2

Grant total: $1,400,000

Participants served: 317

The Shooting and Homicide Response sub-strategy funds agencies supporting two groups affected by gun violence: those who have been the victim of gun violence or serious assault and those who have lost a loved one to gun violence. Agencies funded through this sub-strategy aim to address the immediate basic and social-emotional needs of shooting victims and their families, provide longer-term supports as they recover from injury or loss, and prevent retaliatory violence. The strategy also supports emergency temporary relocation to ensure safety for individuals and families in immediate danger of violence.

The agencies funded by this sub-strategy work together through Oakland Unite to respond to and prevent violent incidents in Oakland and support those affected by them. Oakland Unite convenes and coordinates a network providers and serves as the liaison between the network and law enforcement. Agencies maintain communication to share information and receive information from HSD about violent incidents and threats of retaliation through multiple channels, including weekly coordination meetings organized by HSD.

Notification

A one-way flow of information from the Oakland Police Department to the City of Oakland Human Services Department (HSD) allows HSD to provide agencies with relevant details about violent incidents, including priority assessment for retaliation.

Shooting Response

Through the Caught in the Crossfire and Violence Interrupters programs, Youth ALIVE! provides support to victims following a shooting or serious assault. Community & Youth Outreach provides emergency temporary relocation to individuals at immediate risk of gun violence.

Homicide Support

Agencies such as the Youth ALIVE! Khadafy Washington Project, and Catholic Charities of the East Bay provide support for families of victims and hold healing circles.

Shooting and homicide response grantees

Catholic Charities of the East Bay (CCEB) in partnership with subgrantee Youth ALIVE! and its Khadafy Washington Project, provides intensive outreach and mental health services to those directly affected by homicide in Oakland. Youth ALIVE! staff assist families with funeral or vigil planning and costs, Victim of Crime applications, and other immediate needs in the days or weeks following a homicide. Families, friends, classmates, and other individuals can access CCEB to receive grief, trauma, and crisis counseling. CCEB also offers relocation support through the Victims of Crime assistance program to reduce the risk of exposure to additional violence if participants are in immediate risk. The individuals receiving these services during the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019 were predominantly female and African American.

Youth ALIVE! (YA!) provides violence interruption support and intensive outreach and case management to individuals in Oakland who have been treated for violent injuries at Highland Hospital, Children's Hospital, and Eden Medical Center. Intervention specialists work with the Oakland Police Department and the Victim-Witness Assistance Division of the District Attorney's Office to provide immediate outreach, stabilization, and healing support to engage victims of gun violence and establish a connection and trusting relationship with them, provide emotional support, and address any immediate needs, such as temporary emergency relocation. In the hospital, staff review the incident with the participant, assess the risk of retaliation, and develop a plan to stay safe following discharge. Staff follow up with clients after they have been discharged from the hospital to provide further support, and work in tandem with Youth ALIVE! violence interrupters and participants' families and associates to prevent retaliatory violence. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, over half of participants were from East Oakland, and just under 60 percent of participants were male.

Youth Diversion and Life Coaching

Agencies funded: 4 Grant total: $1,315,000 Participants served: 158 Percentage of budget used for participant support: 7%

The Youth Diversion and Life Coaching strategy aims to reengage high-risk youth in school and help them reduce their engagement with the juvenile justice system. This strategy is a partnership between Oakland Unite, Alameda County Probation Department, Alameda County Behavioral Health Care Services, Alameda County Office of Education (ACOE), Bay Area Legal Aid, and the Oakland Unified School District (OUSD). Community Works West provides pretrial diversion services to youth so they can receive restorative justice services rather than go through the juvenile justice system. For youth being released from the Alameda County Juvenile Justice Center (JCC) Transition Center, the OUSD coordinator makes referrals to life coaching agencies and serves as a bridge between the agencies, courts, families, life coaches, and schools. Life coaching agencies provide intensive case management support and partner with Bay Area Legal Aid to connect participants to legal assistance.

Youth diversion and life coaching grantees

Community Works West (CWW) provides pretrial diversion services to youth who have been arrested and are in danger of being charged with a high-level misdemeanor or low-level felony offense. Following an arrest, youth are referred by the arresting officer or the Alameda County District Attorney's office to CWW, where they receive restorative justice services rather than going through the juvenile justice system. Restorative justice services include one-on-one case management that supports youth in developing and completing a restorative plan, which is agreed to during a community case conference with the victim. The program's goal is to help young people be accountable for crimes and develop empathy for those impacted. The program also aims to help the victims engage in a dialogue around healing. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, nearly two-thirds of participants were male, and over 70 percent were African American.

East Bay Asian Youth Center (EBAYC) provides life coaching services, intensive case management support, and peer support work group services to youth. EBAYC aims to serve youth at high risk of engaging in violence who are referred by the Alameda County JCC Transition Center. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, the program served a diverse group of youth: over half were African American, over one-quarter were Hispanic, and the remainder identified as another group. EBAYC staff work closely with participants, their families, and their school to support them in pursuing healthy and productive life goals. EBAYC life coaches use life maps and incentives to guide youth through the program and make referrals to other supportive services.

The Young Women's Freedom Center (YWFC) provides life coaching support services to commercially sexually exploited young women and LGBTQ and gender non-conforming youth leaving the Juvenile Justice Transition Center. In partnership with Alameda County Probation and education partners, YWFC provides comprehensive socio-emotional, employment and educational support to help young adults achieve economic independence and emotional stability. Over 70 percent of participants identified as female for the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, though gender data were not available for the remainder.

Youth ALIVE! (YA!) aims to serve youth at high risk of engaging in violence by connecting them with life coaches who provide mentorship, connect youth to wraparound services, and support youth in meeting their goals. In partnership with Communities United for Restorative Youth Justice (CURYJ), YA! provides intensive case management services, with a focus on school placement, probation discharge, and brokering of local support services, as well as group and individual mental health support services. Staff also assess participants' need for substance abuse and mental health counseling and offer clinically supported, gender-specific support groups and links to ongoing mental health services both in-house and through outside referrals. Life coaches at YA! are generally men and women who grew up in the communities they serve, including former victims of violence and members of gangs.

Youth Career Exploration and Education Support

Agencies funded: 2 Grant total: $600,000 Participants served: 48 Percentage of budget used for participant support: 19%

The Youth Career Exploration and Education Support Services (CEESS) strategy aims to strengthen the academic success and career readiness of youth at risk of violence. Youth CEESS agencies work to achieve this goal through academic support, community service, subsidized work experience, and employment. Staff across agencies report that youth are motivated by financial incentives that reward attendance, program accomplishments, and training certifications. Agency staff report that incentives provide youth with legal sources of income and help keep them engaged in skill-building activities and with case managers. Agencies also find that providing a variety of job opportunities allows youth to find jobs that match their interests.

Youth career exploration and education support grantees

Youth Employment Partnership, Inc. (YEP), helps youth with multiple barriers to employment develop job readiness skills and connects them to employment opportunities during the summer and after school. YEP aims to serve youth involved with the justice system and/or at risk of engaging in violence. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, nearly two-thirds of participants were male, and over three-quarters of were African American. YEP provides a range of on-the-job vocational training opportunities in high-demand fields like construction and culinary arts. Weekly job readiness trainings cover topics such as financial literacy, communication, and conflict management. The program relies on case managers' relationships with participants to identify their needs and interests and connect them to individualized services, such as accelerated credit recovery for youth who are court-involved and have fallen behind in school, or GED instruction for those who have dropped out.

Safe Passages' Life and Career Roadmap Program provides support services such as life skills coaching, systems navigation, financial literacy, career exploration, and academic case management and support to youth at high risk of being involved in violence. Safe Passages aims to reduce violence and the adverse effects of poverty on Oakland youth living in low-income, high crime communities by improving education and resiliency outcomes and employment opportunities for all participants. Services are administered at Safe Passages' location in downtown Oakland, OUSD and ACOE high schools located in target communities, and at various internship and employment worksites throughout Oakland. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, nearly two-thirds of participants were male, and over half were Hispanic.

The Commercially Sexually Exploited Youth (CSEY) intervention strategy supports agencies to conduct outreach to youth and provide them with emergency shelter and crisis stabilization services with links to long-term support. CSEY agencies offer distinct types of services to provide a comprehensive system of support for youth, including connections with caring adults, wraparound support, and access to transitional or emergency housing, to promote healing and prevent future victimization. CSEY agencies also provide trainings for law enforcement and other community partners to increase awareness of CSEY issues and interventions. To build a sense of community, CSEY agencies provide opportunities for group services and interactions among peers, and safe spaces for youth such as drop-in centers.

Commercial sexually exploited youth intervention grantees

The Bay Area Women Against Rape (BAWAR) Sexually Exploited Minors program offers crisis response services to youth who have been sexually exploited or are at risk of commercial sexual exploitation. BAWAR participants during the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019 predominately identified as female and came from diverse racial and ethnic backgrounds. BAWAR staff conduct outreach in coordination with multiple community partners, including the Oakland Police Department's CSEC special operations, the Alameda County District Attorney's Office, The Family Justice Center, Highland Hospital, and the Oakland Unified School District. BAWAR also conducts community trainings and outreach events for local agencies and schools to increase awareness of sexual assault and exploitation. Following outreach, staff provide first responder crisis intervention and stabilization services. Immediate crisis interventions typically last 24 hours, but staff continue to work with youth until they are in a stable situation. Frontline staff, called Sexually Exploited Minor Advocates, also connect youth to local resources.

DreamCatcher Youth Services (DreamCatcher), a program run by Covenant House California, serves homeless youth in Oakland who are at high risk of commercial sexual exploitation, providing them with emergency shelter, crisis intervention, and stabilization support. DreamCatcher has a youth homeless shelter with 16 beds, where youth can stay and work individually with case managers who connect them with other programs. Case managers work with youth staying at the shelter or using the drop-in center to develop a plan for securing stable housing and other resources to achieve personal goals. DreamCatcher also offers mental health services and group activities. The agency has a drop-in center where youth can hang out in a safe place, eat a free dinner, and access free hygiene products, basic clothing, and school supplies. The drop-in center also houses a medical clinic and a therapist. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, 60 percent of participants were female, close to half were African American, and nearly one-third were Hispanic.

Motivating, Inspiring, Supporting & Serving Sexually Exploited Youth (MISSEY) aims to support sexually exploited youth through a drop-in center that is open five hours per day on weekdays. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, almost all of MISSEY participants identified as female and over 80 percent were African American. MISSEY's drop-in center offers group activities and events for youth as well as a space where youth can spend time during the afternoon and develop positive relationships with peers and adults. Additionally, the drop-in center acts as a crisis response center for youth who need immediate assistance with resource referrals or just need someone to talk to but are not engaging in case management. The drop-in coordinator oversees all programming and also offers support to youth through conversations and help meeting their goals.

Family Violence Intervention

Agencies funded: 2

Grant total: $800,000

Participants served: 603

The Family Violence intervention provides legal aid, case management, counseling, and housing relocation to survivors of family violence. The intervention provides a wide range of supportive services for domestic violence survivors and their loved ones, including crisis response, stabilization, legal, and emotional support services. The intervention also aims to meet the multiple legal and social needs of survivors with cultural and linguistic competence, and to empower survivors to avoid re-injury and end cyclical violence. Agencies within this sub-strategy also provide trainings for police officers to improve preparedness when interacting with survivors of family violence. From July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, agencies held a total of 3 events.

Family violence intervention grantees

Family Violence Law Center (FVLC) helps diverse communities in Alameda County heal from domestic violence and sexual assault, advocating for justice and healthy relationships.

FVLC provides survivor-centered legal and crisis intervention services, offers prevention education for youth and other community members, and engages in policy work to create systemic change. FVLC provides 24-hour mobile crisis intervention services, including safety planning, crisis counseling, shelter placement and relocation assistance, and legal advocacy. FVLC also provides a wide range of other support services, including intensive case management, mental health support for young children, and targeted trainings for Oakland Police Department on FVLC services and domestic violence. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, FVLC served mainly female participants from diverse racial and ethnic backgrounds.

Asian Pacific Islander Legal Outreach's (APILO) Women & Queer Legal Wraparound Services project provides legal aid, case management, counseling, and housing relocation to survivors of family violence to increase survivor empowerment and access to the knowledge resources necessary to protect them from harm. The project aims to support immigrants, women and LGBTQ identifying individuals, South and Southeast Asians, and Pacific Islanders. The project also includes trainings for up to 90 law enforcement officers to increase preparedness among police officers to interact with survivors of family violence. For the six-month period covering July 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019, participants were predominantly female and all lived in West Oakland.

Community Healing

Agencies funded: 5

Grant total: $1,725,000

The community healing strategy has the broad aim of reaching those closest to violence, deepening their skills, and promoting healing through community-led outreach and events.

- Community outreach is led by residents from those neighborhoods most affected by violence and aims to strengthening communities through resident engagement, healing circles, vigils, summer parks programs, and other events designed to promote peace.
- Grassroots mini-grants support violence reduction efforts that take the form of community-building and education, peer support for survivors of violence, leadership development, or other activities designed to change norms around violence.

COMMUNITY HEALING GRANTEES

- Roots Community Health Center (Roots) mobilizes residents to participate in community healing workshops and events that are responsive to violence occurring in the East Oakland neighborhoods of Brookfield Village, Sobrante Bark, Elmhurst, Brockhurst and Eastmont. Activities focus on understanding trauma, techniques for healing and building resiliency, and violence prevention strategies. Volunteers and paid residents engage in leadership development and work alongside staff on program design and implementation. Regularly scheduled Ubuntu workshops were developed to provide a drop-in space to engage local residents.
- Urban Peace Movement (UPM) engages community members from West Oakland who are most impacted by violence, with an emphasis on those affected by gun violence. UPM's efforts to increase community healing include a wide range of events, such as healing and wellness festivals, crisis response vigils, and community healing circles for families who have recently lost loved ones to homicide in Oakland. In addition, UPM partners with other Community Healing agencies to plan joint healing events including holding events at Roots' offices.
- Communities United for Restorative Youth Justice (CURYJ) aims to interrupt the cycles of violence and poverty affecting residents of Central East Oakland (including the San Antonio and Fruitvale Districts) by motivating and empowering young people that have been impacted by violence and the criminal justice system. CURYJ staff provide connection to indigenous, Native American healing practices and ceremonial spaces and offer healing spaces for Oakland's Latinx community, including family members of victims of violence.
- Restorative Justice for Oakland Youth (RJOY) works to increase community members' involvement in violence reduction efforts by providing restorative justice healing circles, conflict circles, and training in restorative justice practices for providers citywide. Through the organizing of these events, RJOY aims to shift community norms around violence in the community and allow residents to come together and connect in safe, positive spaces to promote peace.
- Building Opportunities for Self-Sufficiency (BOSS) aims to serve those community members who are most affected by multiple forms of violence through a variety of services, including advocacy for families in crisis, service navigation, assistance raising funds for funerals, advocacy to policy makers, and organizing victim-led events. In addition, BOSS' sub-grantees, Adamika Village and SAVE (Soldiers Against Violence Everywhere), coordinate healing events in the community. Services take place in parts of West and East Oakland.

COMMUNITY HEALING MINI-GRANTS PROGRAM

In addition to holding their own Community Healing events and activities, each grantee agency supported the development and roll out of the first-ever community healing mini-grants program in fall 2019. These mini-grants support innovative homegrown, community-led projects developed by Oakland residents to address the impacts of violence in their community.

Community members throughout Oakland were engaged to support and publicize the September launch of the program, which sought to provide mini-grants to individuals (up to $5,000) and small, emerging organizations (up to $15,000) for community healing activities. Close to 150 applications were submitted for the first round of mini-grant awardees for FY 2019-20, and 29 projects were awarded approximately $190,000.

The mini-grants are administered by the grantee agencies whose staff selected and guided the decision-making committees. Each committee was comprised of a community healing agency staff member and four community volunteers (25 in total) who selected which projects would be awarded by their agency. Oakland Unite staff and Youth Leadership Institute worked with the agencies to develop the application and selection guidelines and provided training and technical assistance to the agencies and the community volunteers. Each committee developed feedback to the applicants who were not selected for them to incorporate in their applications for the second round of mini-grants. This second round is slated to be administered in early 2020 and will award just over $200,000 in remaining funds.

Highlights of a few selected projects include Rapid Response Healing Circles in North Oakland, Community Clean-up and Block Parties throughout West Oakland, Men Helping Men End Human Trafficking from Jingle Town to Sobrante Park, a Círculo de Mujeres in Fruitvale, culturally relevant mental health circles in Castlemont, and a Healing for Non-Profits project citywide.

Data collection and processing

The quantitative findings presented in this report are derived from six administrative data sources: Oakland Unite's Cityspan database, the Oakland Police Department (OPD), the Oakland Unified School District (OUSD), the Alameda County Probation Department (ACPD), and the Alameda County Office of Education (ACOE). Table B.1 presents the total number of individual records retrieved from each of these data sources and the date ranges covered.

Oakland Unite data

All Oakland Unite agencies are required to maintain administrative records in a common database managed by Cityspan. Agencies use the database to record service contacts and hours, milestones reached, incentives received, referral sources, and demographic and risk information about each participant. The data extract we received from Cityspan included participants who received services between January 1, 2016, and December 31, 2019.⁵ For the analyses in this report, we excluded 761 participants from the January 1, 2016 to June 30, 2019 funding cycle data and 66 participants from the July 1, 2019 to December 31, 2019 funding cycle data who had no recorded services during those respective periods.⁶

Tables B.2 and B.3 show the percentage of Oakland Unite participants in the data extract who consented to share their personal information for evaluation purposes. Consent rates tend to be lower in sub-strategies offering crisis response services because services consist of brief, one-time interactions. Accordingly, Cityspan did not provide names, dates of birth, or addresses for participants who did not consent. Although nonconsenting participants are included in most descriptive statistics about Oakland Unite, they are excluded from any analyses of arrests and ⁵ The profiles presented in the main body of this report summarize participant and service information for the agencies and strategies funded by Oakland Unite from January 1, 2016 to June 30, 2019. Appendix A presents an initial view of the first six months of data collected for the agencies and strategies funded from July 1, 2019 through June 30, 2020.

OPD provided data on arrests and victimization incidents that occurred between January 1, 2006, and December 31, 2019. The arrest data included information about each arrest incident, including its location, statute code, and Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) statute category code, as well as information about the arrestee, including name, date of birth, address, and demographics. The victimization data included similar information for each incident involving a victim of a crime. We used the UCR statute categories and statute codes to determine each arrest or victimization incident's type. For example, we classified incidents by whether they involved a gun or other weapon, public order, property, drugs, a violent offense, or a violation of probation. For victimization incidents, we also identified a broader category of violent incidents, including whether they involved homicide, rape, robbery, assault, offenses against the family and children, prostitution, or sex offenses. For arrest or victimization incidents with multiple offenses, we used the most serious offense to determine the severity. OPD also provided data on individuals who participated in the Ceasefire program from January 1, 2012 to December 31, 2018, either through call-ins or custom notifications. Ceasefire is a partnership between OPD, Oakland Unite, and community leaders aimed at identifying individuals involved in gun violence and offering them support services.

ACPD data

ACPD provided data on state and local Criminal Offender Record Information for individuals age 13 and older served through the Juvenile Division between 2010 and 2019, and records for individuals age 18 to 40 served through the Adult Division, including realigned populations, between 2010 and 2019. The Juvenile Division data files include arrest date and arrested offenses, sustained offenses, disposition, and facility information. These files include juveniles arrested throughout Alameda County, including the City of Oakland. The Adult Division file includes only information on sustained offenses for individuals who are on formal probation. The ACPD data was matched to the other data sources using first and last name, date of birth, race and ethnicity, and gender. Mathematica conducted the match onsite at ACPD and removed identifying information from the matched file before conducting the analysis.

OUSD data

OUSD provided data on all individuals enrolled in the district at any point between August 1, 2010, and June 30, 2019. For each academic year, the data included information about the student's school, days enrolled, days absent, days suspended, and academic performance. In addition, the data contained demographic and identifying information about each student.

ACOE data

ACOE provided data on all individuals enrolled in the county's community schools at any point between August 1, 2014, and June 30, 2019. For each academic year, the data included information about the student's days enrolled, days absent, days suspended, and academic performance. In addition, the data contained demographic and identifying information about each student.

Data matching

To conduct the analyses, we needed to link individuals within and across datasets. To conduct these matches, we used an algorithm to assign individuals a unique identifier both within and across datasets. The algorithm used consenting individuals' identifying information, including their first and last name, date of birth, gender, and address, to perform matches. All data points did not have to be available or match exactly for records to be matched. Instead, the algorithm was designed to consider the likelihood that two or more records represented the same person, even if there were minor differences across records (such as in the spelling of the name). The algorithm placed the most weight on name and date of birth, but also used gender and address if available. These weights were carefully calibrated to avoid erroneous matches while still allowing flexibility.

Data security

Mathematica exercises due care to protect all data provided for this evaluation from unauthorized physical and electronic access. Per our current data sharing agreements, we do not share identifiable data with Oakland Unite or any other entity. All data are stored in an encrypted project-specific folder in a secure server. Access to this folder is restricted to authorized users through access control lists that require approval from the evaluation's project director. Only staff members needed to complete the evaluation objectives were granted access to the restricted data folder. These staff members have all completed data security training and background checks and are up to date on Mathematica's data storage and security policies.
